These scenes from a typical American school in a typical American community are really "Slices of American Life." They represent the life and activities of a modern high school in all its gaiety and splendor. We have called the sections of this book:

Activities	Page 57

and together they go to make up a whole as typically American as apple pie—and may you like it as well.

Middle Row: In one of the girls' shop classes, just started at North Side, we find Virginia Luessenhop, Margaret Witte, and Evelyn Etter very engrossed in their lathe work... These five girls in uniform are the CAP cadets of the senior class. They are Georgia Scott, Lois Poorman, Norma Harper, Glendora Martin, and Ellen Martin. Phyllis Frederick is one of Mr. Smuts' pupils in his war class to prepare girls for war work.

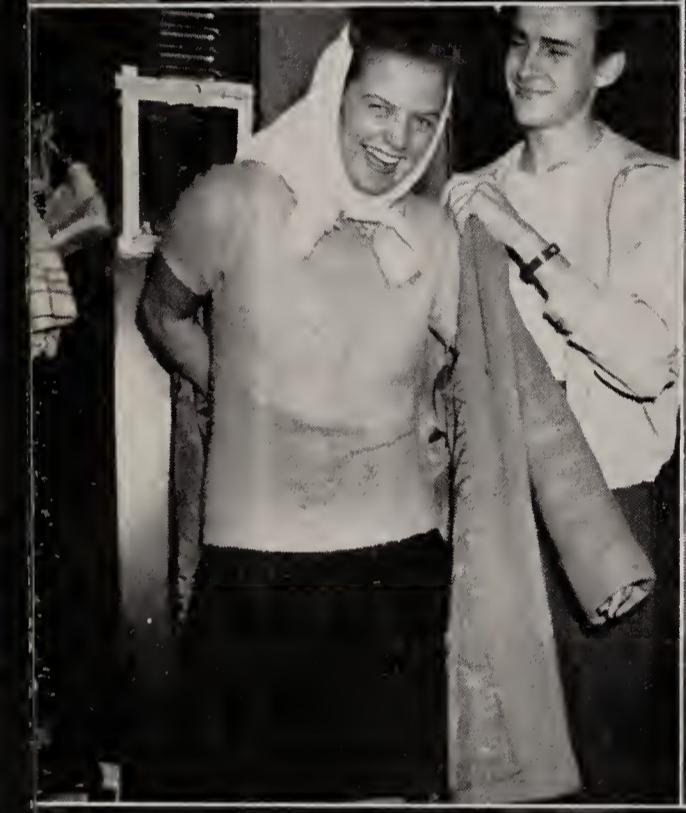

Bottom Row: Fred Brown and Clem Hiser are two other CAP cadets. Mr. Smuts is inspecting some of the work of Ray Chrzan in metal work.

Pillars of Courage

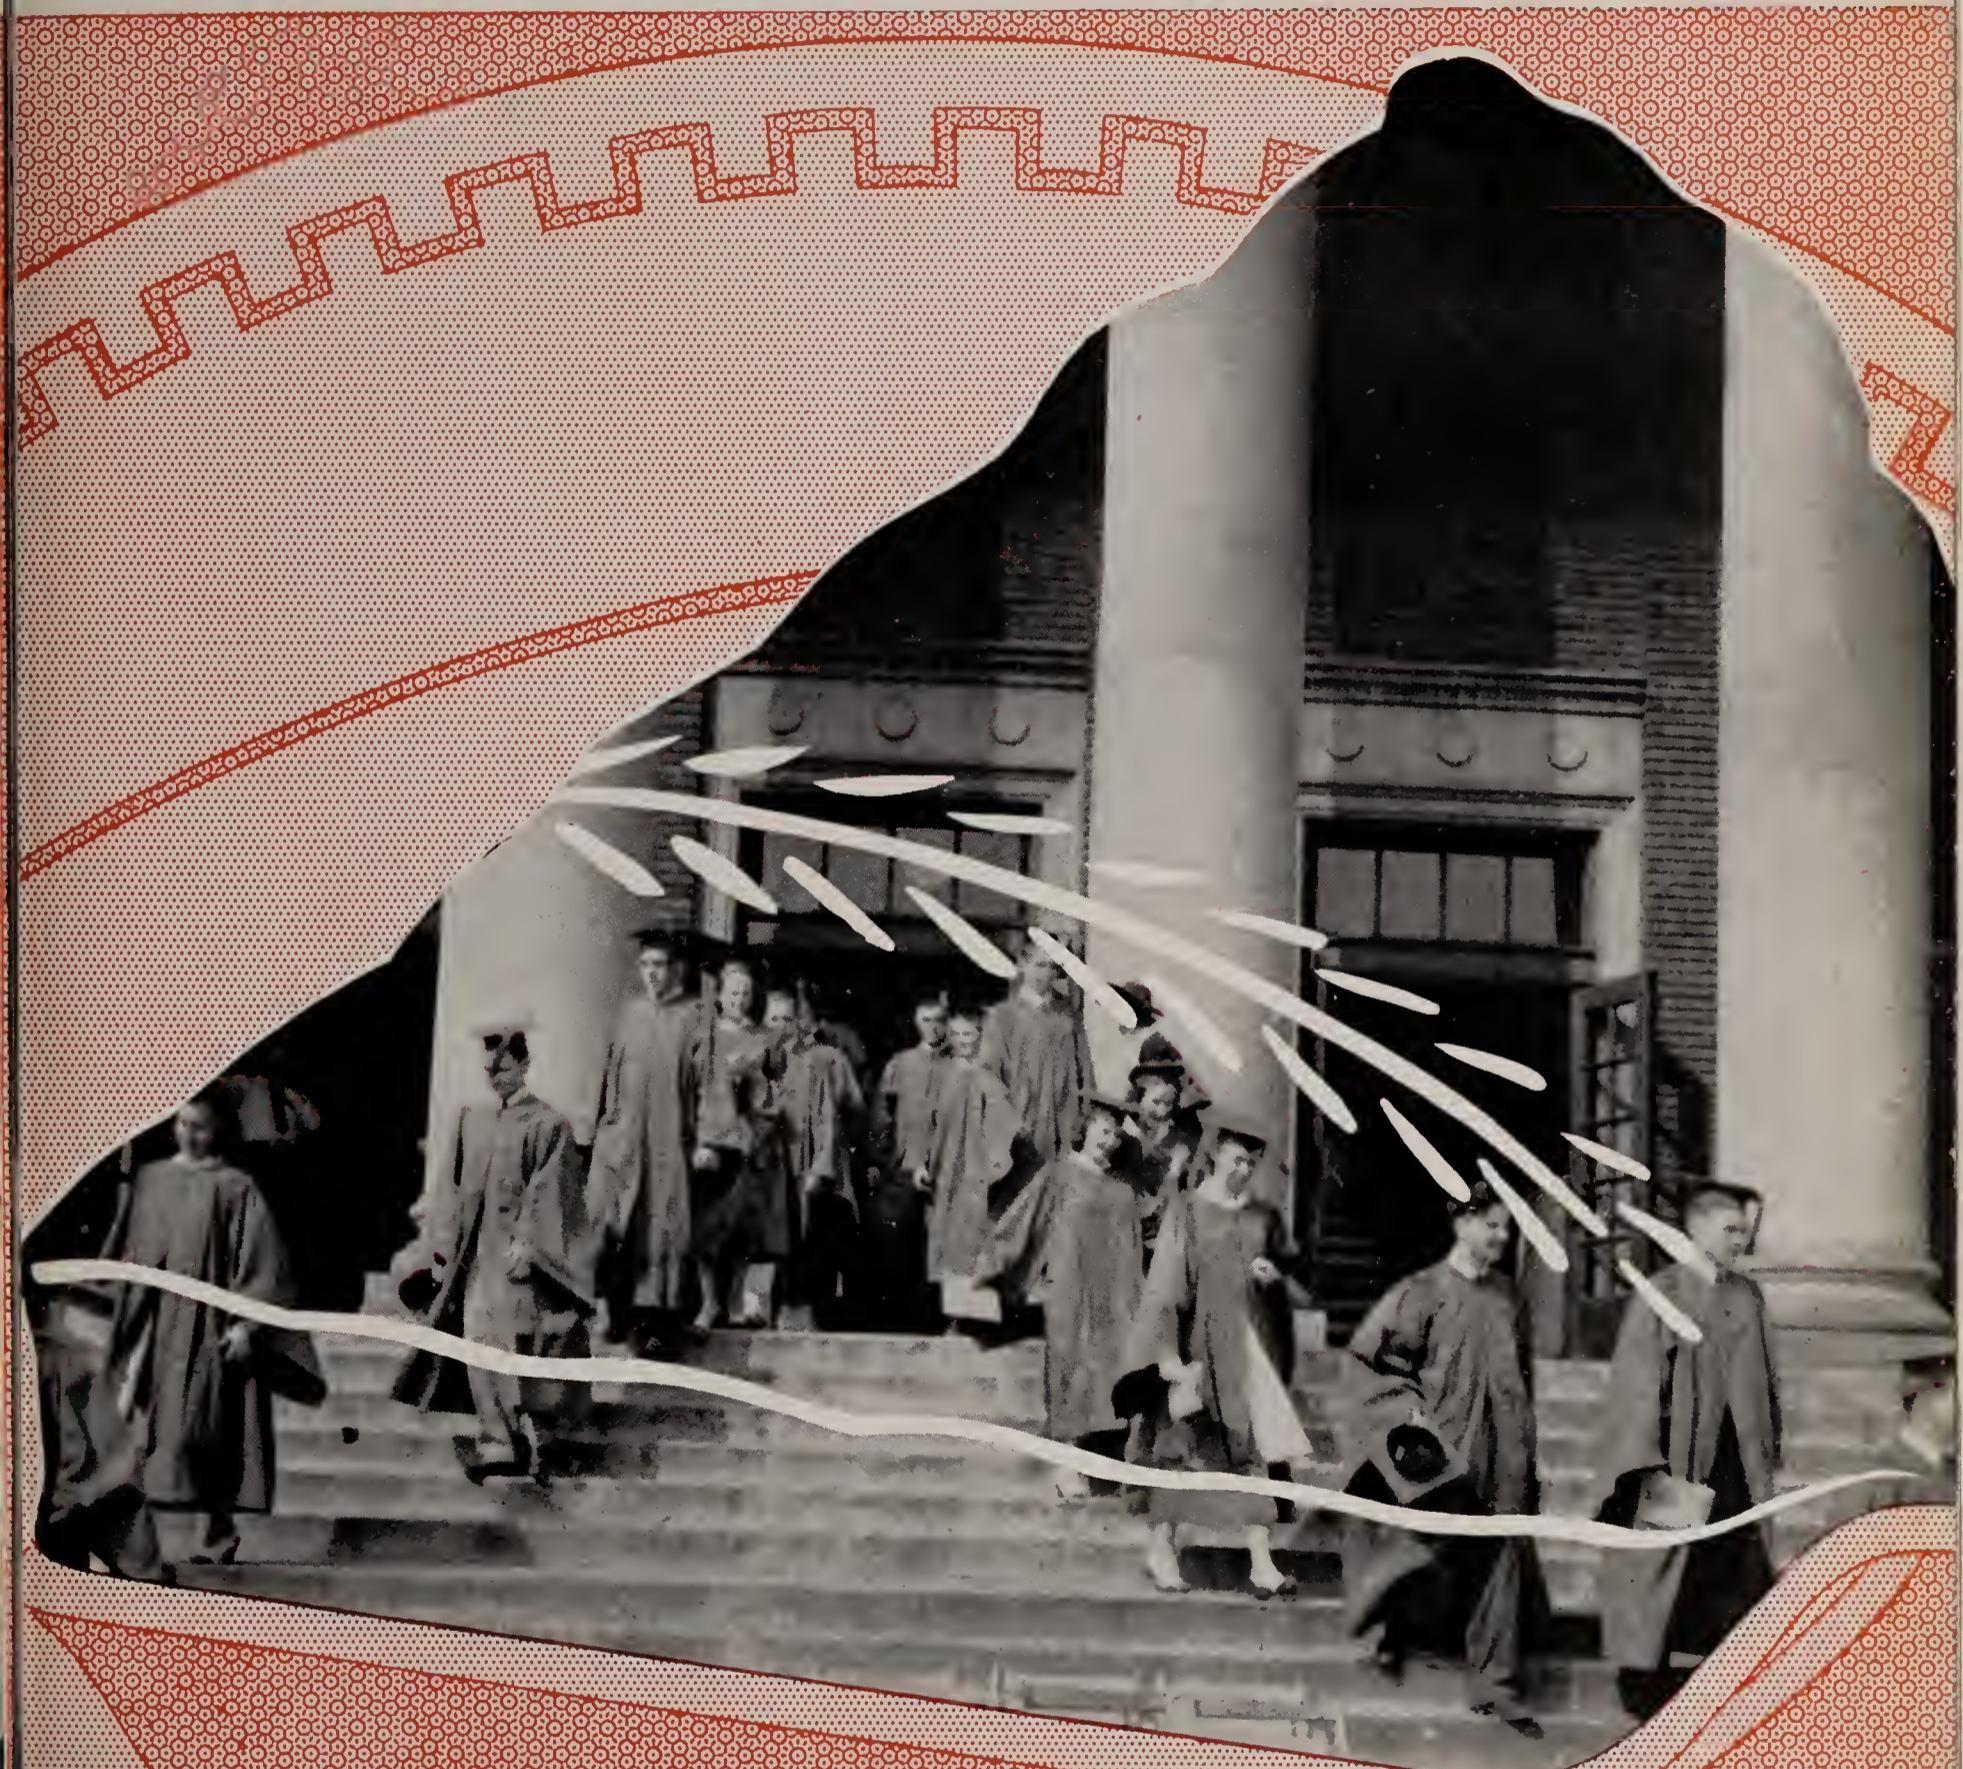

Upper left to lower right by rows: On the fence we find those ever-smiling kids Max Edgar, Sharon Miller, Betty Lemert, Al Novitsky, and Bill Lamson. Another of the after-game dances sponsored by Pan American Club. A very familiar scene within the portals of North Side is Byron Green helping Nondas Crabill on with her coat. To complete another successful day there is the jamming of kids on trolley busses to go home. Leaving the doors of North Side are Nila Koeneman and Phyllis Hattersley. How dear those noon hours are at the cafeteria even though we do have to stand in line. Eating their lunch are Joan Archibald, Nancy Richards, Geraldine Zimmerman, and Joyce Otis. You can barely see the car that these boys are sitting on, but it is a car. They are Jack Wisman, Chuck Heyn, Bernie Smyers, Manuel Fetrnandis, Ray Chrzan, LeMoyn Walker, and back row, Howard Treesh, Fred Gaunt, and Red Etter.

Seniors Completing First Slice of Life

By JOAN NIETER

Senior leaders who led their class down the home stretch. Seated: Mr. Rollo Mosher and Miss Katharine Rothenberger, advisers. Standing: Dick Curdes, vice-president; Carl Moring, president; and Caroline Waterfall, secretary. Kenneth Oetting, social chairman, was absent when the picture was taken.

Another year has come and gone, and with it the Class of 1943 into a world full of complexities. Four years ago we entered North Side and started our climb to honor and glory. Each year brought us closer to our goal until we gained the reputation of being intelligent, conscientious, and honorable. We have tried at all times to fashion our stay at North Side after the school code.

The Class of 1943 has left behind it many high standards and ideals for other classes to follow. This could not have been accomplished if we would not have had such capable advisers as Miss Katharine Rothenberger and Mr. Rollo Mosher. Carl Moring served as president with Dick Curdes as vice-president, Caroline Waterfall, secretary, and Kenneth Oetting, social chairman.

Early in the season the seniors started their round of activities. The first memorable event was the senior banquet, "Wings in the Dawn", held January 21, at the Trinity English Lutheran Church. George Fruechtenicht acted as toastmaster of the affair, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the 260 seniors who attended.

On February 19 and 20, after many weeks of practice, "It Never Rains", the 1943 senior play, was given. This year it was given two nights instead of one as in former years, and a crowd attended both evenings. More profit was realized from this senior play than from any other in the history of North Side.

Then, finally, the month of June arrived with all its happiness and sorrow. On June 3 the seniors lost their dignity and returned to childhood by celebrating Kid Day. The next day was Senior Day. Clad in cap and gown, we all marched into the assembly for the last time, we heard our leaders speak, and we planted our ivy. "June Night", the commencement dance, marked the end of our high school social days. It was held June 5. Sunday, June 6, we attended our baccalaureate services, and after that awaited the memorable day when we would receive our diplomas. June 8, a small class, small because of early graduations so that students could attend college or join the armed forces, marched up to get their diplomas, their reward for four years of hard and diligent work.

Top row, left to right: Number 1250! Al Kwatnez, Sally Cruse, and Bob Thornhill "whoop" it up as the 1250th subscription came in, making it possible for us to have a Legend.

Miss Steiner gives some notes to the students at the information desk. Each period two students are stationed in the front hall to deliver office notes, direct visitors, or do anything else that may be required of them. Around the flag pole are the senior class wardens. Dean Marks is the chief warden and Bob Kaufman, Jack Wisman, and Nila Koeneman are assistant wardens.

Bottom row: Miss Elizabeth Little is registering out-of-town guests of the state speech meet which was held at North Side this year. The noon time resting place of many Redskins is the front steps. One windy day the photographer caught Max Peckhart and Naomi Foster holding a friendly conversation. The most familiar scene of all is the locker gang. In every corner these groups can be found. Note Dellinger's clean saddle shoes. Very unusual!

Class Leaders Today;

Upper left: Smiling in their glory are Barbara Boone, voted the senior girl who has the best sense of humor, and Bob Thornhill, voted by the senior class as the boy who has contributed most to the betterment of the school. Seated on the side of the front steps are Sam Wass, best actor, and Bob Dellinger with the most engaging personality.

Middle: Standing on each side of the spade is the best dancer, Dorothy Chandler, and the boy most likely to succeed, Carl Suedhoff Jr. Reclining beside one of North Side's pillars is Carolyn Waterfall, voted the best citizen, most outstanding member of the senior class, most popular, and possessing the most engaging personality. Here we have Ann Naus, the most likely to succeed, and Carl Moring, most popular.

Lower left: Reclining on the grass are Marjorie Sutton, the best actor, and John Bauerle, the fellow with the best sense of humor. These pretty little senior gals are Wanda Coil, most studious; Glendora Martin, most notorious man hater, and Mary Ramey, most bashful. Tell us so we can laugh too! These bundles of smiles are Maxine Richard, the best athlete; Al Kwatnez, the best public speaker, and Dorothy Doehrman, the prettiest girl.

World Molders Tomorrow

Left to right: Together again are Joan Nieter, voted the best public speaker and the girl who contributed most for the betterment of the school, and Hazen Keyser, voted the most notorious woman hater. Dave Auman, the flag pole, and Jack Lusk. Dave is most bashful, the flag pole wasn't voted on, and Jack is the best dancer.

Center: Proud of his achievements is Dick Curdes, voted the best citizen, most outstanding member, the most courteous, and the most handsome. These little gals are Willa Smith, having the prettiest hair, and Pat Hunt, voted the most courteous. Taking a rest from strenuous activities are Kenny Oetting, claimed to have the prettiest hair, and Dean Marks, our best athlete.

Mr. Harold Thompson instructs some of his helpers in the designing and building of model airplanes for the government. This has been a project of Mr. Thompson and some of his students for two years.

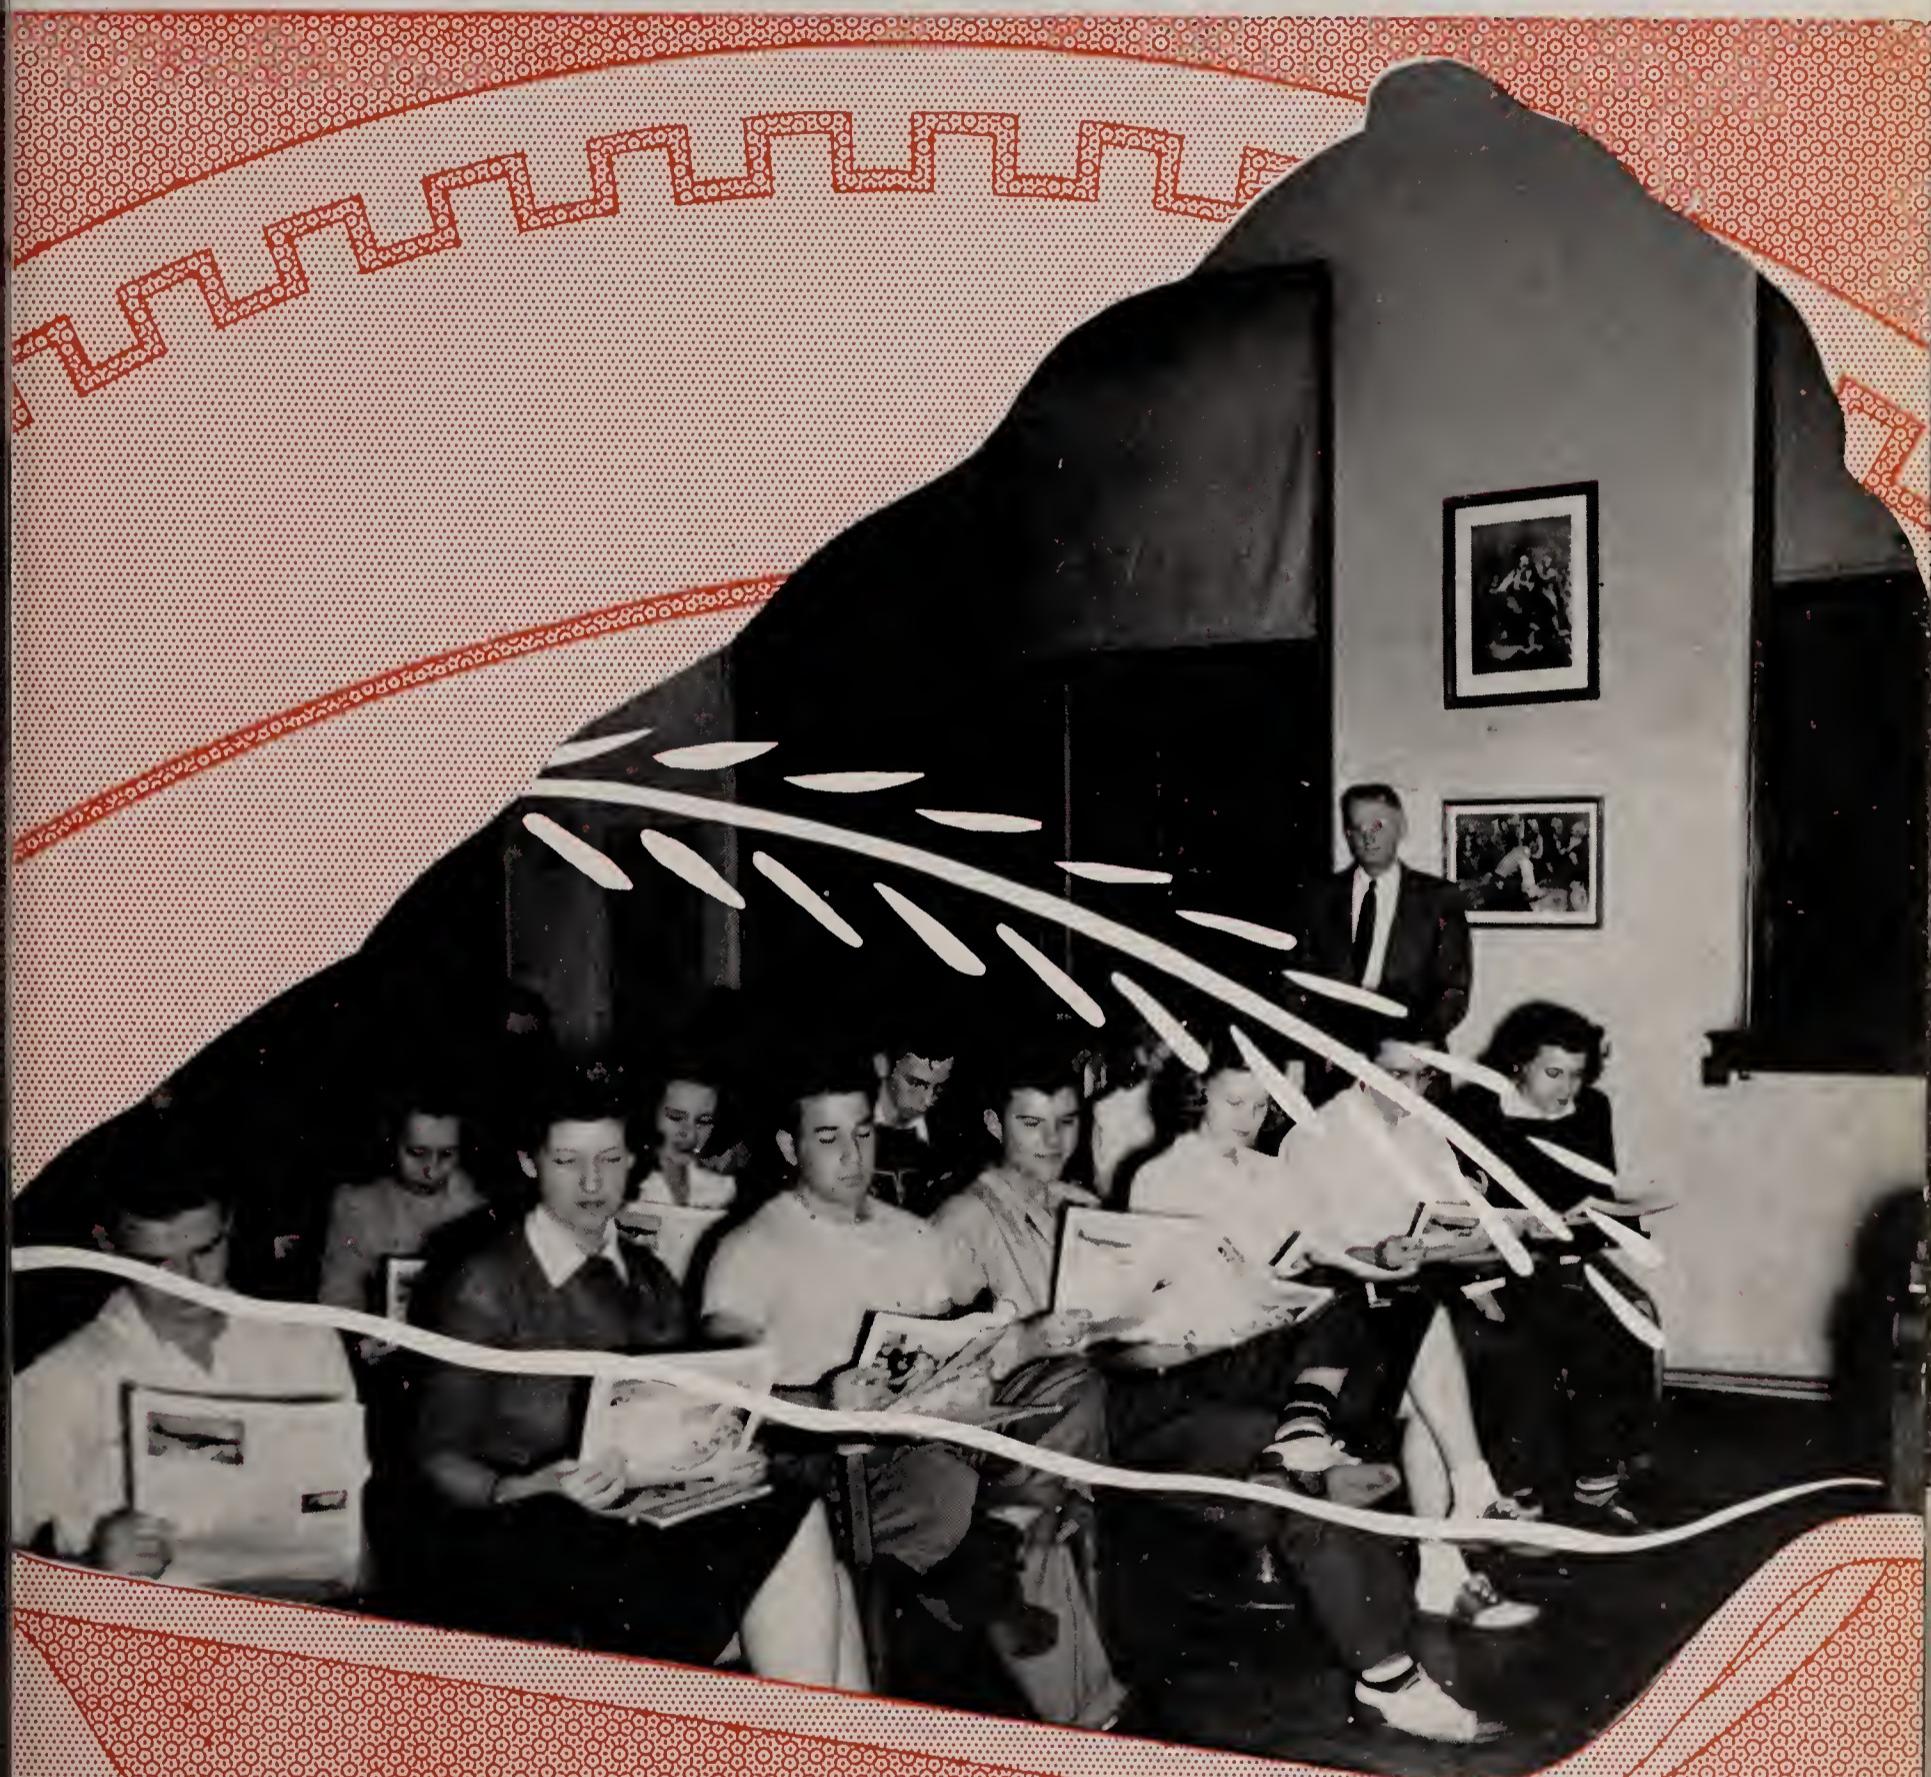

Miss Elizabeth Little, an able Nurses' Aid, is taking the temperature of an ill student.

Captain Everett Pennington stands at attention and sets a good example for his military training classes.

Miss Judith Bowen and Miss Marie Miller are seen doing their home work for the industrial drawing class in which they are enrolled at Central High.

Administration

Guiding

A body that deserves merit for its support and guidance is the Board of Trustees of the Public Schools. Members of the school board are, seated, from left to right: Mrs. Wilhelmine H. Wilder, clerk; Mrs. Charles Goeriz, secretary; August J. Weigand; Merle J. Abbott, superintendent of schools; Ben Geyer, president; William T. McKay; Willard Shambaugh, treasurer; and Carl Carlson, superintendent of buildings and grounds.

Mr. Abbott, a friend and helper to all students, is helping to boost national defense by selling stamps and bonds in the public schools. The superintendent of our public schools is also chairman of the program for the selling of War Bonds and Stamps in Allen County.

The P-TA, consisting of parents and teachers, is always ready to give financial aid and moral support to every endeavor. It was founded with the idea to promote the general welfare of the youth of North Side, and is succeeding in that proposal.

Row one, left to right: Mrs. A. G. W. Curdes, Mrs. H. C. Cruse, Mrs. O. A. Dellinger, Mrs. B. O. Brown, Mrs. G. S. Golden, and Miss Victoria Gross.

Lights

Mr. M. H. Northrop, pondering over War Stamps on Tuesday morning, has done a great deal in promoting the sales of War Bonds and Stamps. Regardless of important matters that come up, he always has a smile and time to converse with anyone who wants assistance.

Our ever-busy dean, Miss Victoria Gross, seems to be helping the war effort by knitting. For comfort and guidance one will always find her just the right person to see.

Two constant aides, not only to Mr. Northrop and Miss Gross, but to every student in North Side, are Miss Mary Waller, secretary to Miss Gross, and Miss Mary Steiner, general office secretary. They assisted in planning and organizing the Victory Corps.

Catherine Cleary
Julia Storr.

Faithful

Seated around the table discussing literature is Miss Catherine Cleary, head of the English department, and her associates, Miss Geneva Burwell, Polar-Y adviser; Miss Mildred Huffman, Helicon adviser and girls' counsellor; Miss Julia Storr, Men-in-Service head, Lettermen's adviser; Miss Elizabeth Little, sophomore class adviser, Victory Corps head; Loy C. Laney, speech coach, NFL adviser, junior class adviser; Miss Irene Miller, JFL adviser, freshman class adviser; Walter Scott, JFL adviser; Albert Coil, debate coach; Miss Mabel Greenwalt, Helicon adviser.

Intently examining a new text book is Miss Bertha Nelson, head of the foreign language department, surrounded by the three other members of this department; Miss Loraine Foster, Latin instructor and Polar-Y adviser; Miss Marie Ehle, German instructor, Polar-Y, and National Honor Society adviser; Miss Judith Bowen, Latin instructor, Red Cross adviser, junior class adviser.

Rollo E. Mosher

We find the Science department discussing something of scientific value. Left to right are Harold Thomas, chemistry teacher, Phy-Chem adviser; Sherman Pressler, instructor in physics; Noel Whittern, physical geography teacher and Booster adviser; Howard Michaud, Nature Club adviser and biology teacher; and Miss Vesta Thompson, Nature Club adviser and botany instructor.

Taking time out from strenuous duties of teaching home economics are Miss Agnes Pate, adviser of Home Economics Club; Miss Laurinda DeVilbiss, cafeteria manager; and Miss Martha Beierlein, adviser of Home Economics Club.

Johnsonman

Ella Brewer Clark

Varner M. Chance

Of the

Robert Shambaugh is skillfully tuning the violin under the watchful eye of Varner Chance, head of the music department. These two men are responsible for all the music endeavors at North Side.

Robert Shambaugh

Center picture left: Smiling after the successful completion of another Northerner is Miss Rowena Harvey, adviser of the journalism department. She also heads 1500 Club and Quill and Scroll, honorary journalistic societies.

*Sincerely,
Cornelia Kovacich*

Center picture right: Jubilant over the recent success of the senior play is Miss Margery Suter, SPC adviser and instructor of drama classes. To the left is Miss Ethel Shroyer, library head, and to the right is Mrs. Cornelia Kovacich, study hall instructor.

Admiring some art work of their students are Miss Bernice Sinclair and Miss Gertrude Zook, art teachers and advisers to the Art Club.

Flock

Putting the film in the picture slide is Tourist Thompson, head of the industrial arts department. Standing beside him is Rutherford Smuts and Mr. Harry Thomas. Mr. Smuts is also a teacher of defense classes.

Mrs. Grace Bridges, Rifle adviser, is trying to put a typewriter back together again while the rest of the business department looks on. The business department is, left to right: Mrs. Maryann Chapman, Defense Council; William Simon; John Mertes, rental and second hand books; Miss Oral Furst, point recorder of Victory Corps; and Leslie Reeves, head of the business department, school treasurer, and member of the athletic board.

The members of the physical education department are, seated, Miss Margaret Spiegel, swimming, physical education, and GAA; Robert Dornte, basketball coach, football coach, and physical education teacher; Miss Hilda Schwehn, health, first aid, physical education, girls' counsellor, and GAA adviser; standing, Rolla Chambers, track coach, Lettermen's Club and director of the athletic department; and Hyrle Ivy, an instructor of both health and swimming classes and adviser of the Rifle Club.

Our National Award

As a reward for maintaining an average of ninety per cent or above in the purchase of War Stamps and Bonds for at least six consecutive weeks, the North Side Redskins received the Minute Man flag. The flag was presented by Mr. Merle Abbott at a special assembly. Holding the flag are Mr. Milton Northrop, principal; Tom Seaney, president of the War Council; and Mr. Abbott.

The Minute Man flag, which has a white Minute Man on a blue silk background, hangs near the main entrance of the school. It is a symbol of the willingness of the great majority of the students to show their patriotism and school spirit by buying stamps and bonds in their home rooms.

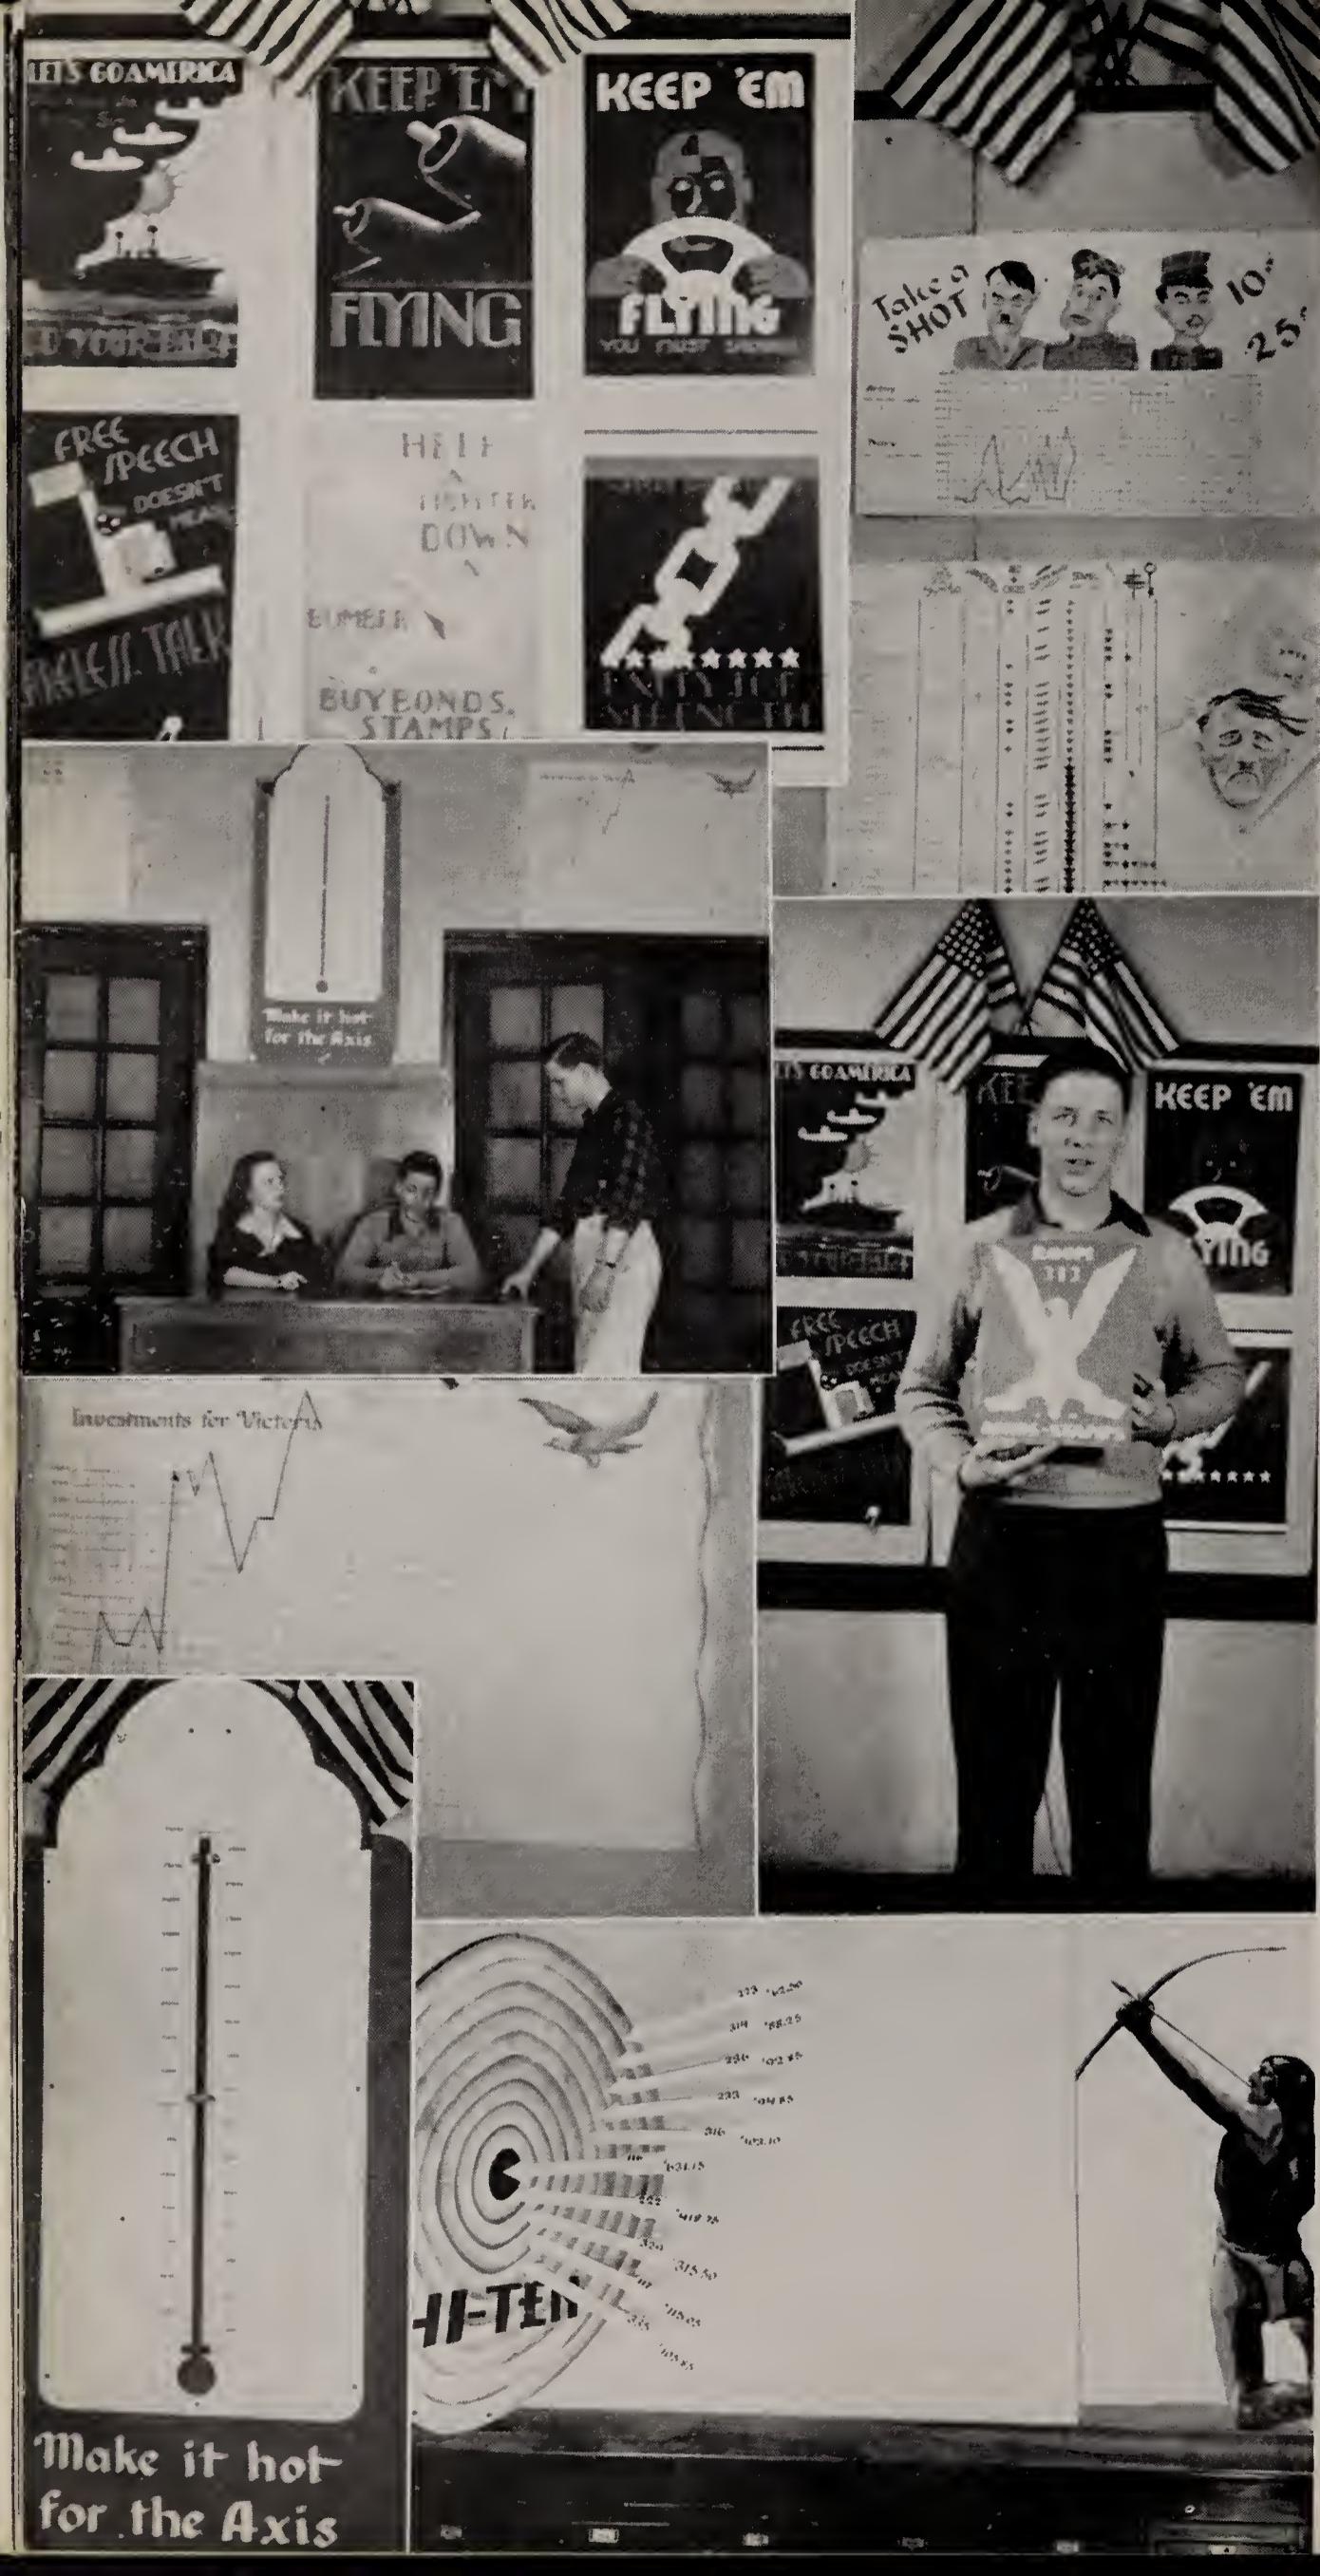

For Faithful Service

The War Council was partly responsible for the success of the drive to induce the students to buy War Stamps and Bonds. They kept the charts in the front hall, gave speeches, and looked after other records. In the top picture the faculty members of the council are inspecting one of the charts which tell of our advancement. They are Mrs. Maryann Chapman, Miss Hazel Plummer, and Miss Bernice Sinclair.

How We Gained

Top Row: In our study hall there are posters made by the art classes that aid in making the students realize that they must go "all out" for defense in order that the Allied Nations win the large task which they have begun. These are two of the charts which boosted the sale of Stamps and Bonds.

Center Row: The information desk at the front entrance is surrounded with our victory plaques and posters... Again Home Room 313 comes through with a 100 per cent room in the purchasing of Stamps and Bonds. The proud representative of 313 holding the plaque is Jerry Angel.

Bottom Row: Here we have the thermometer that records our purchase of War Stamps and Bonds... This poster shows the high ten Redskin home rooms in the sale of Stamps and Bonds each week.

The Redskin Raider

Top Row: North Side received this Minute Man flag through Superintendent of Schools Merle J. Abbott, County War Bond Chairman, after the school was 100 per cent for six consecutive weeks.

Mr. Northrop awards these home rooms with gold stars. He awarded Home Room 117 with eleven gold stars, a marvelous record for a home room. Left to right: Don Young, purchaser of the large bonds that helped in attaining the stars for Room 117; Dick Stalf, representative of Home Room 327; Don Schomp, representative of Room 213; Ann Young, representative of Room 117; Tom Seaney, chairman of the War Council; and Mr. Northrop.

Center Row: Contributing dimes to the Red Cross Drive is what this patriotic home room is doing. Mr. Pennington, director of the military drill classes, is holding some of the guns that are used in those classes.

Bottom Row: These three proud persons of Home Room 117 are Ann Young, Mr. Morris, and Don Young. This is an industrial arts class which proves to be very popular among these boys.

Redskins Do Their

Upper left: Again North Side showed what it is made of when gold stars were awarded to eight more home rooms recently by Mr. Northrop for purchasing more than $1,500 in stamps and bonds.

Upper right: If the nation buys stamps and bonds like this home room, Mr. Thomas', the United Nations will soon have the war won.

Left below: These girls, Norma Goheen, Betty Harshman, Maxine Richard, and Dorothy Doehrman, have a hectic job doing fuel oil rationing work, but they enjoy it.

Lower right: Ed Blair and Bob Thornhill assist Doris Ostrander in trying to straighten the scrap pile that North Side so generously contributed.

Bit for Freedom

Upper left: Miss Bowen is giving two Fort Wayne citizens some much-needed advice about fuel oil rationing.

Upper right: Teachers of North Side aided in the registration for fuel oil. How well we remember those days!

Lower left: Tom Seaney is pointing out how much of our pursuit plane we have bought to date.

Middle: Showing the rise of our purchase of stamps and bonds is none other than Doris Lare.

Lower right: Mr. Reeves and Maxine Richard seem to be happy about the fine cooperation given by North Side students in contributing to the Red Cross drive recently.

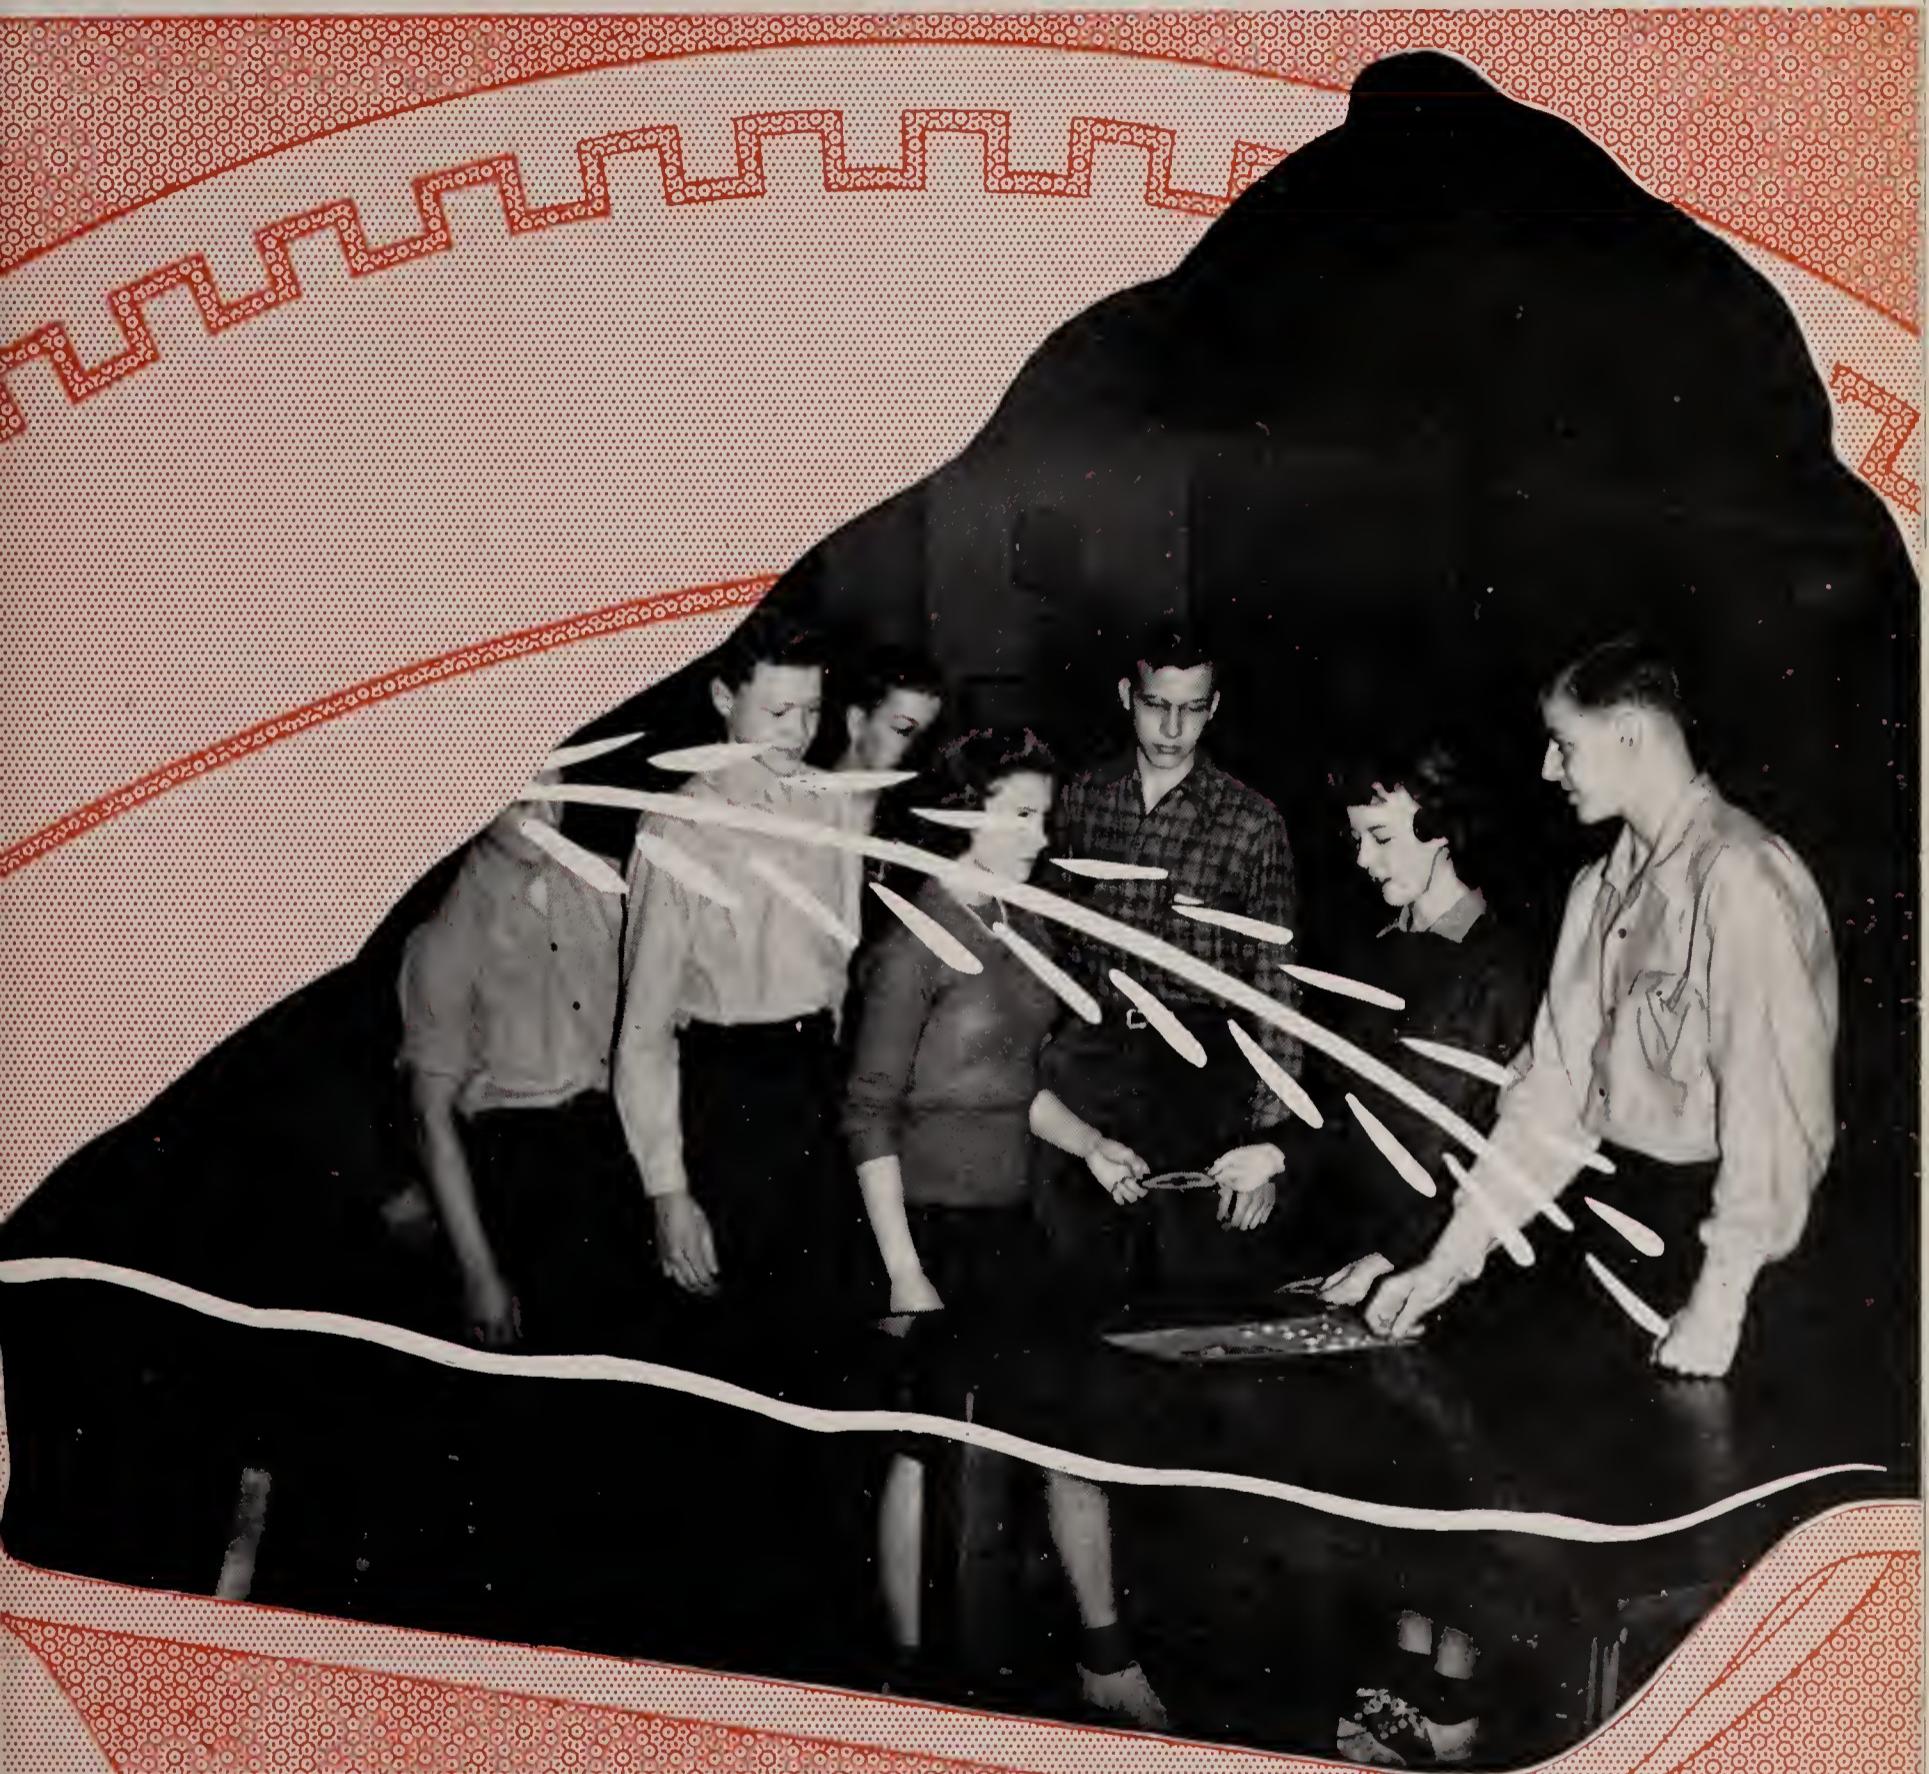

Top Row: It looks as if Fred Barthold is holding a very interesting conversation with windblown Virginia Einhorn.... We found this happy little trio, composed of Ed Blair, Marjorie Jones, and Norma Meyers, near Sandy's. Second Row: Seen here are Rowene Crabill, Joan Harris, and Pat Winner, the would-be actresses... Here we have a couple of our cute seniors, Charlotte Hampshire and Dot Chandler, getting off to a big start. Right: A gang of Redskins near their favorite hang-out, better known as Sandy's. Bottom Row: Smilingly, Cuby Sutton helps cute Nancy Richards on with her coat, which proves that chivalry is not yet dead.. Looking happy, holding up the stop sign, are Shirley Boedeker and Mary Louise Bostick.

Underclassmen

Juniors Eye Coming Year

By SHEILA SCHOMP and DOROTHY WINJE

Ready to start our fourth quarter as seniors, let us now as juniors reminisce. We have watched our meager beginnings as buds blossom into the lush fruits of fulfillment. During the past three years, we have attained a high scholastic and social average, which will be difficult to surpass in our senior year.

Leading our class was Dave Benninghoff, acting as president. He was ably assisted by Bill Hinga, vice-president; Jim Field, treasurer; and Dick Horning, social chairman. Supervising these officers were Miss Judith Bowen and Mr. Loy C. Laney, the class advisers. Great thanks are due to these teachers for their aid in helping us pass many rough spots on our road to success.

We've had lots of fun during our preceding years. Passing through gay times, carefree and sad times alike, we have emerged successfully. One of the high spots of our junior years was the traditional Prom. Through the magnificent leadership of our class officers and advisers, our prom, "Rustle of Spring" will always be deeply etched on the minds of everyone as a wonderful success.

Dick Horning, as social chairman of the juniors, served as general chairman of this affair. For the first time in the history of North Side, our Prom was even more magnificent, as we selected a Queen.

Our choice was Sally Cruse, and she had as her attendants Suzanne Buckner, Rosie Didier, Mary Ann Dye, and Alexine Banet. Covered with potted palms and tree limbs, the walls of our gymnasium were magically transformed into a lovely spring evening, and created a beautiful setting for the ritual of crowning the Queen. The week before the Prom, every junior devoted himself to perfecting our plans. Decorations were all required to be fire-proof, this year, for the first time, and no ceiling could be used.

Junior Home Room 212, Miss Schwehn's, had the highest scholastic per cent among the juniors last fall. The members of this room are Martha Dole, Alice Carlson, Esther Didier, Priscilla Fortmeyer, Norma Day, Jean Mirch, Beverly Crowell, George Getts, Connie Conklin, Lila Lee Childers, Phyllis Clark, Evelyn Branning, Marjorie Barr, Betty Cartwright, Jack Allen, Ray Chrzan, Dallas Haycox, Bill Ferguson, Don Harsh, Wallace Fritz, Bill Crankshaw, Mary Ansberry, Lois Biggs, Wannita Block, Robert Carpenter, Helen Ferrell, Mary Julia Gottschalk.

We would like to express our deep gratitude to our officers and class advisers for their marvelous leadership and to the students for their cooperation in making this, our junior year, a "best-ever" year.

Sophomores Move Along

By JACK VANDENBERG and BOB BAYER

The leaders of the sophomore class are, seated: Jessie Ormerod, president; Miss Elizabeth Little, adviser; Robert Bayer, social chairman. Standing: Wayne Heath, secretary; Mr. Everett Pennington, adviser; and Lloyd Vogel, vice-president.

Through a world engulfed in war, we of the sophomore class, undaunted, have proceeded up the ladder of success toward our goal. It has been a very difficult climb, but we are exceedingly happy as we look back over our many failures and successes.

Much credit should be given to the advisers and officers of the class of '45. It was under their able assistance and leadership that we have overcome our many difficulties. Miss Elizabeth Little and Mr. Everett Pennington acted as these advisers. Credit should also be given to Jessie Ormerod, president; Lloyd Vogel, vice-president; Wayne Heath, secretary-treasurer; and Bob Bayer, social chairman, for their leadership.

The library led the school in courtesy and also received the sophomore scholastic award for having the highest rating in the sophomore class.

The leading social event of the year was the Freshman-Sophomore Party. This affair was under the supervision of the class advisers and planned and executed by the class officers and the Student Council.

The sophomore class was 100 per cent in the sale of stamps and bonds. We also cooperated with all the other drives sponsored by the school to the best of our ability. By these means we of the Class of '45 have been able to aid in the war effort.

We realize our shortcomings and also our achievements. In the future we will strive for greater success and look upon our years in high school with a deep-rooted satisfaction.

The Freshman-Sophomore Party drew 250 of the freshmen and sophomores to the cafeteria. Tickets were distributed by Student Council members and class officers. Besides the ticket, a properly-prepared tin can was required for admission. The officers and representatives were divided into entertainment, chaperone, refreshment, and checkroom committees.

The party was started with the playing of mixer games. Betty Boegli then presented a novel program and, following these activities, Wayne Heath's orchestra played for dancing. This party did a great service in acquainting the freshmen with the sophomores, as it has done in the years prior to this.

The members of the leading home room in both scholastic rating and courtesy are Kenneth Eshelman, Sharlot Heller, Betty Mullen, Norma Murrell, Roselyn Nidlinger, Jacqueline Orr, Kay Packer, Robert Penn, Joyce Pentz, Flo Rose Perkins, Walter Pflueger, Glenna Plasterer, Mary Pollos, James Ringle, Margaret Rodemeyer, James Romke, Barbara Rose, Hugh Russel, Mary Ellen Sanders, Richard Schaaf, Jack Schick, Robert Seaney, Shirley Seward, Wanda Mae Sheets, William Shumaker, Betty June Sible, William Silver, Ralph Springer, Florence Staak, Jack Summers, Joan Sutton, Emily Swank, Charles Todd, Jack Vanden Berg, Glenda Van Zent, Neva Waikel, Marguerite Ann Watt, Robert Weikel, Eunice Westbrook, Mona Winkleblack, Franklin Wood, and Leona Zies.

Frosh First Course Over

By BILL LANEY

To Donnie / lots of good luck in the future. "Brown Browne"

In September, 1942, a green class of freshmen entered the portals of North Side to begin a four-year period of ups and downs. Having survived the first year, these students have become full-fledged "Redskins". Many records, scholastic and athletic, have been recorded by the class of '46. The class, although larger than average, has set standards which freshman classes in the future will try to surpass.

In late fall the annual Freshman-Sophomore Party was held and for the second straight year the music was provided by Wayne Heath and his orchestra. A great number of freshmen turned out for the affair at which everyone enjoyed himself. A conga line, truth and consequences program, and dancing featured the event.

The election of officers was held and the students put their trust in Walter Helmke as they elected him president of the freshman class. He was assisted by Bill Laney, who was elected vice-president; Maryetta Longardner, secretary-treasurer; and Eleanor Heine, social chairman. These officers were installed by Dick Curdes, Student Council head, at a freshman assembly after the election and all of the officers gave speeches assuring the other class members of a progressive first year at North Side. Helmke announced Miss Irene Miller and Mr. Robert Sinks as the advisers of the class for the school year.

Many freshman boys answered the call for athletics. Football and cross-country were the main attractions during the fall season. The freshman football and basketball teams made impressive records and will be called to man the guns for the Redskins in future years. In the spring, track attracted numerous freshmen who later discovered they had athletic talent.

The annual freshman party was held April 30 in the cafeteria. The Melodymen, a newly organized orchestra, furnished the music. A talent program was held in the auditorium, a mixer, dancing, and games featured the other part of the evening.

Several of the class of '46 joined clubs to round out their extra curricular program. Many of the students chose speech as their outside activity. Early in the school year an extemp contest was held in which all freshmen had to write and give their own speech. Eliminations through the classes were held until the contestants were limited to ten. Out of these ten Carolyn Pridgeon placed first, Bill Laney, second, and Betty Lou Sowers, third.

The war brought on many changes in the lives of the North Side students. The Victory Corps was established and many of the eager freshmen joined the corps and participated in the classes which were offered by this organization. These classes met every Tuesday night after school. Along with the war came the buying of War Bonds and Stamps and other such wartime duties.

The marshals of the freshman class were Don Munger, Priscilla Hunt, Norman Pfeiffer, Walter Helmke, and Bill Laney.

Top Row: Walter Helmke and Norman Pfeiffer are two of the freshman wardens, who help to keep order in the assemblies. Seated on the front steps are Jack Waggoner and his faithful assistant wardens, Ed Blair and Gene Himelstein. They represent the junior class in the effort to promote better conduct.

Second Row: Our North Side news commentator is Gene Himelstein. Every morning he reads the announcements over the PA system... The sophomore wardens are taking a rest from their task. Two of them are Frank Glasa and Norman Johnston.

Bottom Row: Bobbie Rose looks like a convicted person as she comes into school with her hands over her face. John Hinton is looking on with a wicked gleam in his eye... Enjoying the first bit of spring fever are these underclass lasses. Reclining on the grass during the nice spring days is a favorite pastime of almost every North Side student.

Top Row: Miss Schewhn is teaching a group of girls the proper health habits in an outdoor class. Members of the Camera Club and of the Tuesday night Victory Corps photography class are developing some film in the dark room.

Center: Another Victory Corps class is learning first aid under the guidance of Miss Hilda Schewhn. The Pan American Club does its part for the war effort by selling stamps and bonds at their after-game dance. Dave Bourke and Barbara Leonard are buying some from Mary Ann Dye and Miss Hazel Plummer.

Bottom Row: The Polar-Y Club also does its patriotic duty by selling war stamps at their functions. Miss Rowena Harvey is doing a man-sized job in her spare time at the Pennsylvania Railroad.

An organization such as the Student Council gains little glory for its deeds and actions; but, as an organization, its value and services are quite indispensable. This governing body, entirely of and by the students, consists of a representative from each home room, the class officers, an athletic representative, and the heads of the publications.

Each year the Student Council sponsors an Armistice Day and Memorial Day assembly. Carl Suedhoff, chairman of the assemblies, and Patricia Hunt were in charge of these.

The nation-wide Victory Corps was introduced into North Side by inducting into it the members of the Student Council. The Corps consists of five divisions, the land, sea, production, community, and air services. Each service was opened separately and any student who qualified gained admission into any service he chose.

Because of the continued success and fighting spirit of the Redskins, another trophy case was badly needed. Getting one built was the duty of the council and under the chairmanship of Hazen Keyser a trophy case on the left side of the main entrance into the auditorium was completed this year.

On March 19 one of the most interesting and timely assemblies was presented. It was the Courtesy Week assembly and Mr. Joe Tucker Jr. was the main speaker. Caroline Waterfall acted as chairman of Courtesy Week.

May 13 was Junior High Day at the big tepee. All prospective freshmen were familiarized with the departments and functions of North Side.

Our purpose has been to bring the faculty and the students problems before the attention of the school and to work out an efficient plan by which to work and live together. In a community such as that within the shadow of the great dome co-operation is a necessity—we strive for cooperation.

The officers of this year have been Patricia Hunt, secretary; Kenneth Winner, vice-president; Dick Curdes, president; and Miss Gross and Mr. Northrop, the advisers.

Little Angels of Mercy

By PHYLLIS HATTERSLEY

On December 7, 1941, the Junior Chapter of the American Red Cross at North Side, under the direction of Miss Judith Bowen and Miss Hazel Plummer, set out on a determined project to help win this war in every way possible. In November with Mary Ann Dye as president, the club filled boxes with toys and toilet articles which were sent to the children in foreign countries. At this time a scrap drive and a drive to collect old coat hangers was conducted.

The annual penny drive to secure members for the National Red Cross and the War Chest was very successful this year. On December 16, a Christmas party was given by the whole club. The admission to this party was a ten-cent gift which was used to fill Christmas baskets for needy and unfortunate children.

It was decided early in the year that the club should try in every way to make itself the most outstanding club at North Side. In order to reach this goal many worthwhile projects were planned and completed successfully. Marjorie Warner was appointed chairman of our infantile paralysis drive for fifty feet of dimes or $85.00. The drive was backed by the student body with great enthusiasm as $111.29 was collected.

Probably the most outstanding drive was the book campaign to get books for our boys in the service. The goal was set at 1000 and 3710 books were donated by the students and faculty. This drive was of great interest to civic leaders as well as North Side students.

After the North Side-Central Catholic game on January 15, the club sponsored a dance, with Barbara Rose as general chairman, at which time they sold stamps and bonds.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Plummer the members made 500 sandwiches for the men at Baer Field. The two afghans one made early in the year and the other in the spring were other projects of the organization. The last drive sponsored by the Red Cross was the Easter sale of seals for the education of the crippled children.

The officers of the club for the year were, first semester, president, Mary Dye; vice-president, Nadine Waggoner; secretary, Nancy Saylor; treasurer, Charlotte Buesching. Phyllis Hattersley served as president the second semester with Peggy Watt, vice-president; Barbara Rose, secretary, and Jean Nicholas, treasurer.

Top: Counting out the Easter Seals for distribution to the home rooms are Barbara Rose, Dorothy Wolf, E. Marschner, Betty Mitchell, Virginia Robinson, Gratia Warner, Rose Marie Moeder, Betty Reed, and Miss Plummer.

Center: The symbol of grace and mercy is an inspiration to all Red Cross members. Nancy McIntyre is holding out the flag for Nancy Saylor, Lois Adams, and Mary Whinery.

Bottom: One of the many projects of the Red Cross Club was the making of an afghan. Miss Bowen is pointing out the pattern to several members of the club.

A Slice of American Life—The Legend—published by our senior class. Today, our normal life has been interrupted by war. For us the future is uncertain. It is unfortunate for us that we graduate at this time of world tyranny, but it is up to us as Americans to correct the evils which face us today.

Throughout this yearbook we have attempted to show the role played by the younger generation — our generation — the chief concern of which is education, both mental and physical. This is one of the many privileges for which we are fighting to preserve. The editor in collaboration with the other members of the staff has gone all-out in his attempt to make this yearbook stand head and shoulders above any other yearbook which has been published thus far. It is hoped that the effort has proved successful.

A yearbook such as this could not have been published without the necessary cooperation and friendship which have been so willingly extended by the student body. Dave Auman, circulation manager, and his assistant, Nila Koeneman, recorded the overwhelming total of 1,280 subscriptions, which far exceeds the record of 1,150 sales set by the 1942 Legend.

The editor wishes to express his gratitude to Joan Nieter, originally appointed as senior editor, who capably assumed his duties as Legend

North Side

Checking over their sales are Dave Auman, circulation manager; Al Kwatnez, business manager and sports editor; and Nila Koeneman, assistant circulation manager. Bob Matthews, the senior who sold the most Legends, is now serving in the United States Navy. Three who have done much for the Legend are Hazen Keyser, photographer; Jim Field, assistant business manager; and Ed Blair, photographer. The group who sold the Legends are, left to right: Virginia Kru-dop, Nancy Saylor, Pat Dailey, Marilyn Pierre, Phyllis Boedeker, Jackie Orr, Sally Cruse, Aimee Winje, Bob Renner, Alice Carlson, and Martha Dole.

head upon his entrance into college. Not only did she continue in her capacity as senior editor but also she completed the underclass, club, and sports sections, as well as taking care of other general duties which came up.

The organizations were handled by Betty Kochert, who also took over Joan's duties for a week while she attended a national speech conference. Betty was in charge of the dummy lay-out, club stories, and the identification of pictures.

Al Kwatnez, also at the time of this writer's entrance into college, took over the business department, in addition to his duties as sports editor. He was aided by Jim Field on the business staff and by Cuby Sutton, Keith Bratton, and Howard Weatherholt on the sports staff.

The success of the underclass sections may be attributed to their respective editors. They were: Sheila Schomp and Dorothy Winje, juniors; Jack VandenBerg and Bob Bayer, sophomores; and Bill Laney, freshman. It was their duty to identify underclass pictures and to create stories concerning the activities of each class.

We, the class of 1943, make this yearbook a part of the Slice of American Life which it represents, and we dedicate this Legend to the Freedom of Education, which is a determining factor in the American way.

The three publishers, Al Kwatnez, Joan Nieter, and Bob Thornhill, inspect the lay-out for The Northerner.

The Northerner has completed another successful year of publications at North Side. Last fall, for the tenth consecutive time, the paper received an International Honor Rating in the Quill and Scroll contest held at Northwestern's Medill School of Journalism. This award was based upon the merits of the circulation, make-up, writing, and editorials of the paper.

In March The Northerner was awarded a Medalist Rating, the highest award a high school paper may receive, at the Columbia Press Association Convention in New York City. The Medalist Rating was given in recognition of the high standard of the entire paper. At this convention the paper also received a Victory Star Award for outstanding work to promote the sale of stamps and bonds and to boost the war effort.

Individual honors were taken by Al Kwatnez and Jim Field. Al won first place in the Quill and Scroll sports writing contest in January, and Jim and Al were both given the All-Columbia recognition for their sports pages.

Doris Lare served as editor of the April Fool's edition of The Northerner, and Al Kwatnez was publisher of The Tournament News.

Last September, Nancy Saylor set an all-time record in circulation by obtaining 1327 subscriptions, and twenty-two one-hundred per cent home rooms. This was the highest goal ever attained by any school in this city.

Nancy Saylor, circulation manager, and her assistants, Jack Vandenberg, Dorothy Winje, Bob Bayer, and Gayle Scott. The sports staff, Al Kwatnez, Jim Field, Cuby Sutton, Kenny Morrow, Howard Weatherholt and Keith Bratton approve of the sports news just handed in. Margaretta Horner, Sheila Schomp, and Dorothy Wolf look over stories to be published. Charlotte Buesching, Sally Cruse, and Ann Naus are cooking up an idea for an advertising tie-up.

Publishers during this last school year have been Robert Thornhill, Joan Nieter, Al Kwatnez, and Dorothy Wolf. Other major staff members were Virginia Krudop, news editor; Mary Julia Gottschalk, make-up editor; Doris Lare, circulation manager; Margaretta Horner, copy editor; Sheila Schomp, managing editor; Nancy Saylor, business manager; Jim Field, sports editor; Sue Buckner, editor; Jack VandenBerg, feature editor; and Lois

Reinking, advertising manager.

Early in the season The Northerner sponsored a tea dance, and during the season several potlucks and an agents' party in the spring of the year.

Every year, Miss Rowena Harvey, publications adviser, elects outstanding journalism students to Quill and Scroll, national honorary society for high school journalists. New members this year are Al Kwatnez, Joan Nieter, Dorothy Wolf, Howard Weatherholt, and Robert Thornhill.

Doris Lare is giving assignments out of the big black book to Norma Self, Don Finney, Irene Archer, Virginia Krudop, and Eleanor Evans. Suzanne Buckner's feature writers, Jeanne Nicholas, Joan McClain, Peggy Watt, Jack Wehrenberg, Betty Hartzell, and Enid Burrell watch as she corrects their copy. There seems to be a controversy over an article between Alice Carlson, Mary Julia Gottschalk, Ed Blair, Abbie Banet, and Martha Dole. The War staff has been doing a fine job under the direction of Joan Nieter. Her staff consists of Darleen Herring, Mary Sanders, Lucille Lemke, and Carol Jean Havens.

Made up of approximately two hundred students, the Northerner and Legend staffs have again come through to bring the student body here at good old North Side High one of the best under-grad papers in the country. The sports pages have received honors by winning the All-Columbian award. The paper as a whole garnered the Silver Star award for the efficient display of war support.

Five members received the highest honor bestowed upon prep school scribes by gaining admittance into the international society for high school journalists. The students who were chosen to Quill and Scroll are Al Kwatnez, Howard Weatherholt, Bob Thornhill, Joan Nieter, and Dorothy Wolf.

The 1500 Club, another division of those who have achieved success on the staff, provided the backbone for the newspaper work. Members of the staff who have gained 1500 points from work on publications are eligible. Al Kwatnez was elected president and Joan Nieter took the honorary second place position. Sheila Schomp and Sue Buckner were elected secretary and treasurer.

However, 1500 points is not the limit that a member can reach. Various pins are offered at intervals up to 10,000 points. At this point a scribe receives a gold-jeweled pin, the highest earned honor a member may obtain. Those honored by the gold-jeweled pin are Ann Naus, Dorothy Wolf, Jim Field, Doris Lare, Joan Nieter, Al Kwatnez, and Bob Thornhill.

Howdy, Neighbor

By PATRICIA HUNT

The purpose of the Pan American Club is to promote friendliness between the United States and the twenty-one other American republics. To this end the members are striving, and, despite its youth, the Pan American Club has grown so in importance that it is now one of the outstanding clubs at North Side.

In two very real ways Pan American is aiding our country in its struggle, and so is aiding our school, too. It is helping in our war effort here at North Side, and it is laying the firm foundation for the unity and order which must come about in the future. This contribution cannot be emphasized too highly, for it is one of the chief principles our nation is fighting for today.

The organization of this club, too, is unique, for membership is limited to forty-four members, a boy and a girl to represent each Pan American nation, plus the United States and Canada. Throughout the year programs have consisted of talks on these various countries by their representatives. One of the high spots on this year's schedule was the discussion of Mexico. Besides the talks by the students, Miss Gross, Miss Bash, and Miss Storr presented some first-hand reports on that country, which they had visited.

The work of organizing the new club fell largely to Miss Plummer and the first officers of the club. Dick Horning has been a real president, and under his direction Margaretta Horner has done a valuable job as vice-president. Tom Seaney headed the Constitution Committee while Bill Lamson and Phyllis Krumbigel did much to make a success of the Pan American dance. The present officers are Dick Horning, president; Margaretta Horner, vice-president; Bill Lamson, treasurer; Mary Ann Dye, secretary; Sally Cruse, corresponding secretary.

On April 14, the club introduced a precedent by giving the first annual Pan American Day assembly. Mr. Charles L. DeVault, who was in the consular service of the United States for twenty-two years, was the guest speaker. Two A Cappella sextets provided the proper atmosphere by singing Latin-American songs.

The second vital contribution which the club is making is its work in promoting the sale of War Stamps and Bonds.

Top: Phyllis Hattersley is explaining about one of our Pan American neighbors to Dave Benninghoff, Dorothy Hoffman, Betty Mitchell, Eugene Himelstein, and Victor McGuire.

Center: Reading about the customs of the South America are Mary Jane Brower, Joann Leighty, Delbert Auman, Dorothy Leininger, and Doris Lare.

First Step to Success

Although the Junior Forensic League is not an honorary organization like National Forensic League, it has in its membership those freshmen and sophomores who will someday become North Side's leading debaters and speakers, for the great majority of the members of the National Forensic League have come from the ranks of the Junior Forensic League.

The object of the Junior Forensic League is to promote interest in speech work among freshmen and sophomores and to encourage its members to enter the various contests during the year.

The league had for its officers the first semester, Wayne Heath, president; Jessie Ormerod, vice-president; Jean McComb, secretary-treasurer; Vergie Lewis, historian; Rena Miller, publicity chairman; and Dick Blum, social chairman. The second semester the officers were Vergie Lewis, president; Jessie Ormerod, vice-president; Susie White, secretary-treasurer; Dick Blum, historian; Walter Helmke, publicity chairman; and Wayne Heath, social chairman. These officers have all filled their positions well and seriously, and have helped the league maintain its high standing. Miss Irene Miller is adviser.

In speech contests given the first semester, Mary Etta Longardner and Walter Helmke, freshmen, and Dick Blum and Marilyn Curdes, sophomores, gave impromptu speeches. Herb Willis and Nancy Robinson, freshmen, and Joan Houlihan and Nancy Lewis, sophomores, gave extemporaneous speeches. "Post War Problems" was the subject for speeches given the second semester, and in the sophomores class the speakers were Vergie Lewis and Clarence Kopp, who placed first and second respectively.

At the State Speech Tournament held at North Side, March 19 and 20, the Junior Forensic League members very ably and willingly served as chairmen, time-keepers, and guides.

Statesmen of the Future World

By BETTY LOU BRUICK

The purpose of the National Forensic League is to improve all phases of speech work and to promote good will in competition.

The debaters this year, under the guidance of Mr. Albert A. Coil, had a very successful season competing and tying for first place in the Indiana District Debate League and tying for second place in the state NFL Tournament. The varsity team this season was Dick Horning and Jim Field supporting the affirmative and Dave Benninghoff and Wanda Coil supporting the negative. In addition to the varsity teams, these teams also participated: Thaine Ford and Clarence Kopp, affirmative; George Sparling and Bob Northrop, negative.

The public speakers under Mr. Loy Laney's guidance also enjoyed a very successful season. The Indiana State NFL contests brought Gene Himelstein a first in Oratorical Declamation and Radio; a second to Kathryn Gould in Original Oratory and Poetry; a third to Flo Ann Brown in Dramatic Readings; and a fourth to Victor McGuire in Humorous Readings. Wanda Coil was named one of the ten outstanding Congressmen at Purdue.

In city-wide competition North Side won honors by placing Wanda Coil in the American Legion contest, Al Kwatnez in the Rotary World Peace contest, and Kathryn Gould in the Kiwanis Declamation. The Senior Koerber Extemp contest was won by Al Kwatnez; the Junior Extemp by Gene Himelstein; the Sophomore Extemp by Jessie Ormerod; and the Freshman Extemp by Walter Helmke.

Center: Our new tom-tom beater is none other than Shirley Olson.

Bottom: Um, that Coca Cola the Booster Club is selling surely does look good.

The Booster Club is noted throughout the school for its pep, service, and activities.

The pep of the club is attained by the varsity cheerleaders, Don Meeks, Bill McConnell, Harold Towsley, Dorsey Moss, Fred Brown, Bob Dellinger, and Jack Lusk, the latter two being co-captains. Together they showed their excellent ability by leading an enthusiastic crowd to victory. Their attractive red and white uniform were furnished by the profits made by the club.

The service of the club was shown best during the basketball tournament in which North Side was host. The members worked many and long hours so that North Side would be a good host. The decoration committee had charge of decorating the gym, in which they did a very fine job. The club, as a service toward the school, bought Victory Corps emblems and presented them to the new organization. Under the direction of Noel H. Whittier, the Booster Club has become a very valuable club for service to the school.

Of course, the Booster Club is a very popular organization and as a result boast 167 members. The club gained much success through its able leaders. Those elected the first semester were Don Koenig, president; Dot Winje, vice-president; Joan Nieter, secretary; Kathryn Schlatter, point recorder; Shirley Olson, pep session chairman. The second semester officers were Jack Lusk, president; Nancy Saylor, vice-president; Sue Buckner, secretary; Marilyn Curdes, point recorder; Amie Winje, pep session chairman.

The club has an annual banquet every year for the benefit of the members. It is the biggest event the Boosters present. The activities of the club has reached its highest peak of its career. It has presented more pep sessions and has had better attendance at the meetings than any other year.

Future Aerial Photographers

By ANN NAUS

The government says, "teach them to shoot not only with a gun, but with a camera." Therefore, North Side's Camera Club, headed by Miss Marian Bash, is endeavoring to show apt students the rudiments of good picture taking and developing.

This national crisis has upset the plans of many other clubs but to the Camera Club it means only increased work in an old department, service. For this club is one which is constantly serving the school. Its members take care of all the camera equipment for North Side. They run the movie camera and the slide projector. Bob Northrop and Stan Thompson have spent endless hours of their study time in the auditorium showing movies for science and history classes.

In addition to these regular services, the club has taken a special series of pictures of North Side's war posters and charts for the National Government. The club is also learning the technicalities of good picture taking and is helping to train the photography class of the Victory Corps.

Although increased work has not allowed much time for "tom-foolery", these camera enthusiasts enjoy their work to such an extent that it is play for them. The pins they are earning on the basis of the points issued for the services rendered are an incentive to greater interest also.

As a money making project, the club showed the movie "Wells Fargo" after school. The officers were in charge. This year they were: President, Fred Brown, a member of the club for four years; vice-president, Paul Roembke, and treasurer, Jean Volmerding. Janice Van Camp, as program chairman, arranged for interesting outside speakers at the regular meetings. Dick Ropa and Paul Roembke were in charge of the darkroom work and are cited for outstanding service in the photography class.

Through participation in literary programs and in social activities, the Helicon Club offers students an opportunity to improve themselves both culturally and socially.

The programs of Helicon Club have consisted of discussions of plays, poems, and novels, including the plays, "The Corn Is Green" and "Watch on the Rhine", and the novel, "War and Peace."

Then, too, even the more serious must have their fun and the social activities have been very satisfying this year. A Thanksgiving potluck was held at the home of Donna Tibbets, at which time Miss Marian Bash presented her pictures of Mexico and past-president Jack Roberts told of his sojourn in Mexico. Another much-anticipated event was the spring tea, at which time Mrs. Charles Houser read a modern play. The club picnic in May was in charge of the juniors.

As a Christmas service the club gave generously to provide a Christmas party with toys and entertainment for the children at the College Club Day Nursery. The December program presented a dramatization of Van Dyke's famous story, "The First Christmas Tree."

The first semester of the present school year the club was led by the following officers: Miles Waggoner, president; Richard Horning, vice-president; Patricia Hunt, secretary; Joan Nieter, treasurer; Martha Dole, social chairman; Peggy Watt, program chairman; Bruce Shewmaker, membership chairman; Donna Tibbets, publicity chairman; and Dave Benninghoff, critic.

The second semester the new staff of officers was as follows: Bruce Shewmaker, president; Bob Kaufman, vice-president; Beatrice Ormerod, secretary; Alice Carlson, treasurer; Betty Harshman, social chairman; Bernice Kramer, program chairman; Norma Day, membership chairman; Bob Laws, publicity chairman; and Peggy Watt and Bob Northrop, critics. The club advisers are Miss Huffman and Miss Greenwalt.

A Sketch of the Sketchers

Today, as always, we see those undaunted sketchers carrying out the traditions of the Art Club and living up to her ideals. A true interest in art is the only requisite for membership.

The advisers of the Art Club are Miss Zook and Miss Sinclair. The members are Martha Hughes, Joan Pequignot, Nancy Fox, Babs Brosner, Roseann Higgens, Scott Wyatt, Paul Winicker, Max Edgar, Lois Adams, Betty Hartzell, Jean Burch, Julia Williams, Mary Houser, Marcella Miller, Linda Oelschlager, Bill Lamson, Betty Greenwood, Betty Oliver, Pat Hiser, Bonnie Sharp, Phyllis Krumbigel, Mary Louise Ulrey, Pauline Smith, Carl Sundsmo, and Ed Blair.

On September 15 our group of future Norman Rockwells, Grant Woods, and Thomas Hart Bentons held their first business meeting of the year. At this meeting, plans for the picnic were discussed and the following officers were elected: Bill Lamson, president; Martha Hughes, vice-president; Joan Pequignot, secretary; Max Edgar, treasurer; and Betty Hartzell and Phyllis Krumbigel were named as social chairmen.

The Art Club held its annual picnic at Lakeside Park on September 29. The social chairmen acted as co-chairmen of the affair, which was in the form of a weiner bake. This event was exceedingly well planned and executed. The club further decided that "Art of America's Allies" would be the subject of the programs for the coming year.

The first of these programs was held at the October meeting of the club. The discussion was directed chiefly to the Chinese life, customs, culture, and to China itself. Our Chinese student, Chan See Fong, and Miss Storr took part in the discussion of the country which has looked upon the United States as her friendly sister. At the meeting held November 16, Martha Hughes gave a report on Chinese art. To assist in this report, Miss Sinclair and Miss Zook brought articles from the Fort Wayne Art School and from their homes.

The Art Club was entertained on April 13 by Miss Zook and Miss Sinclair, who acted as the joint-hostesses. Soon plans for the annual banquet were under way, and the curriculum for the year was climaxed by the banquet held on May 17.

Master Music Makers

By WANDA LEE COIL

"There is in souls a sympathy with sounds . . .
Some chord in unison with which we hear
Is touched within us, and the heart replies."

—Cooper

The North Side music department has proved its efficiency in integrating the varied musical interests and talents of North Side students into a harmonious, cultural whole.

The instrumental division of the music department had an exceptionally active and successful year. Mr. Robert F. Shambaugh, whose first year as teacher at North Side has established him as an able instructor of instrumental and vocal music, directed the orchestra. A class in conducting was instituted, a most profitable class, in which each orchestra member took a turn at conducting the group.

For the first time special periods each week were devoted to rehearsal of the string instruments. A brass choir and a woodwind and string orchestra were featured on some of the programs. Dorothy Holcomb, cello; Joan Rockey, violin; and Ruth Mertz, piano, composed a very popular trio.

The orchestra's first appearance for the year was on the Christmas program on December 18. Its performance of various excerpts from Wagner was outstanding. On February 12 the orchestra was featured in playing "Cherubim Song No. 7", by Bortnyanski, and "Minuet Berenice", by Handel. It also accompanied Jeroslav Holesovsky, the concert-violinist from Baer Field, when he played Wieniawski's "Legende."

The background of music which formed an atmosphere conducive to meditation for the cantata, "Adoramus Te", presented on April 2 and 3, was provided by the orchestra. In addition to the traditional commencement time music furnished by this outstanding musical organization, the orchestra played "Roumanian Fantasy", by Velska; "Gavotte in G", by Handel; and "Waldteufel Waltzes", by Roberts, for the Spring Festival on May 14.

Several orchestra members—Fritz Aker, Fred Barthold, Dorothy Holcomb, Gloria Jean Klaus, Joyce Putman, and Joan Rockey—are members of the Junior Civic Symphony orchestra.

The band, under the experienced guidance of Mr. Varner M. Chance, likewise had a full schedule. The marching band, besides the school games, at all of which it played, was active in civic parades, the grade school scrap drive, the Armistice Day parade, the War Chest drive, and the Central State Champs' parade.

The concert band, a select group of forty-five, played at many civic gatherings and for the choral-band concert on November 6, the Christmas program, the student assembly on March 16, and the Spring Festival. On March 22 it was privileged to play in a band clinic conducted by William D. Revelli of Michigan University at North Side.

For the concert on November 6 the band played Goldman's "University Grand March"; a novelty selection, "Janina", by Drumm; "Will You Remember" from "Maytime", by Romberg; and "In a Persian Market", by Ketekbey. The band also accompanied the chorus for "Songs My Mother Taught Me", by Dvorak, and an old Lithuanian melody, "Peace Be With All".

On the Christmas program, the music department's gift to Fort Wayne, the band played the "Christmastide Overture", "Christian Rhapsody", and "Christmas Festival." For the Spring Festival the band—in the brilliance of their red uniforms and their skillful performance—capped their season with Wagner's "Prelude to the Third Act of Lohengring"; Schlepegrel's "Silver Wedding Overture"; and the beautiful "Memories of Stephen Foster", arranged by Lucien Cailliet.

Paul Hessert was the concert-master of the band; Richard Carrington, drum major and solo-flutist; Dick Horning, first trumpet; Joyce Putman, first trombone; Eugene Shambaugh, first horn; and Carl Holcomb, first baritone.

To supply trained beginners as vacancies appear in the instrumentalists' ranks, there is another musical organization, the training band, which meets weekly.

In addition to the promising Training Choir and the well-known A Cappella Choir the music department has a large choral group under the direction of Mr. Shambaugh.

The twenty-two twirlers, trained by Mr. Shambaugh, performed at all the games. Nila Koeneiman, head twirler, and her assistant, Joan Leighty, who has been chosen head twirler for the 1943-1944 season, were in charge of training the beginning twirlers.

North Side's band, who has so faithfully provided enjoyable music for their Alma Mater during assemblies, football games, and basketball games.

THE LEGEND 1943

Strains for Enjoyment

By ESTHER McCOMB

First Row, Left to Right: V. McGahey, N. Saylor, H. Jackson, M. Snead, P. Rabus, B. Eversole, B. Crowell, C. Conklin, Mr. Chance, director; N. Self, W. Smith, P. Fortmeyer, D. Struver, J. Leighty, R. Nidlinger, N. Murrell.

Second Row: R. Mertz, F. Brown, M. A. Dye, M. Williamson, M. Osterhaus, W. Coil, W. Crouse, P. Grant, F. Duff, M. Hughes, L. L. Childers, S. Buckner, S. Schomp, P. Krumbigel, I. Archer.

Third Row: B. Weikel, D. Crowell, D. Nichols, G. Shambaugh, D. Gutermuth, D. Meeks, W. Matter, M. Edgar, J. Whonsetler, W. Gilberg, J. Tinker, J. Wakeland, D. Rice, N. Smith, M. Brooks.

This season of 1942-43 has been very outstanding in the growing progress of the North Side A Cappella Choir. The successes of the choir in the past year may well be attributed to the rapidly growing musicianship of the organization as a whole. For without this situation, an Easter Cantata, such as was given in April, might never have been attempted by such a young group of students.

The heavy season began during Christmas time. Annual concerts were given for the Wayne Pump, Lion's Club, various other civic organizations, and several church programs. A Christmas program was also given for the entire student body, in which the whole music department participated. Among other important concerts of the year was the evening program of the Teacher's Convention. On the evening of November 16 the choir made a very successful showing at a North Manchester Civic Symphony Orchestra concert. The appearance of the guest choir was so well accepted that the A Cappella was asked to return a week later and give a concert for the Manchester College student body. This program had a fine ending when the choir's performance of "White Christmas" was followed by two repeat encores.

Undoubtedly the greatest opportunity the choir has yet had to gain national recognition was acquired through the Allied Mills broadcast of December 24. This broadcast was heard in forty states and was sent through seventy-eight stations.

Much credit should be given to the Training Choir for its ability to fill engagements when the A Cappella was unable to do so. The Girl's Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Robert F. Shambaugh, should be commended on its work, for those people are the future members of Training Choir and A Cappella. Two sextets have helped the choir. Those in one sextet are Sue Buckner, Sheila Schomp, Mary Lou Williamson, Nancy Saylor, Barbara Eversole, and Virginia McGahey; and in the other, Beverly Crowell, Norma Goheen, Mary Ramey, Phyllis Krumbigel, Martha Hughes, and Lila Childers.

In place of the annual operetta the music department this year presented the Easter cantata, "Adoramus Te" by Loraine Miller and Dr. Joseph Clokey. Performances were given April 2 and 3 under the direction of Mr. Chance and Mr. Shambaugh. The soloists on Friday night were Mary Ramey, Martha Hughes, Don Meeks, and Max Edgar, and on Saturday night, Beverly Crowell, Patty Grant, Dick Crowell, and Jim Whonsetler.

Inventive Geniuses

By HAZEN KEYSER

Like to mess with chemicals or physics apparatus? Good, then your hunt for paradise has come to an end. Phy-Chem Club is your destination; for this club was formed for the purpose of inspiring those interested in the two fields of science to further their knowledge of the subjects. It is in Phy-Chem that the haunts and habits of the elements and elections are investigated.

Phy-Chem started off with a "bang" this year by securing a partner for Mr. Harold Thomas, our faithful adviser. The second adviser is Mr. Sherman Pressler of the physics department. The election of officers was first on the program, Hazen Keyser being elected president; Robert Driver, vice-president; Sally Cruse, secretary; and Lewis Knight, treasurer.

Phy-Chem's annual skating party was next on the events' calendar. The skate was exceptionally good, being the most successful skate of the year.

As time rolled on the club's monthly meeting became more interesting as the different groups of students participated in the programs, and speakers on the subject of war gases and other similar subjects were engaged.

In January the officers for the second semester were chosen, Robert Driver being elected president; Edward Sperr, vice-president; Wanda Crouse, secretary; and Tom Seaney, treasurer.

To get off to a good start for the second semester, a voluntary program was set up for members who wished to donate their blood to the war effort. This successful activity was equaled in the next three meetings by excellent programs put on, first, by the girls; next, by the boys; and last, but not least, by our ever-enthusiastic sponsors.

A year of success was brought to a close by the annual senior picnic.

Again the members of Phy-Chem wish to extend their thanks to their capable advisers, Mr. Harold Thomas and Mr. Sherman Pressler.

Center: At one of the meetings the members conducted a radio program for talent. Those trying to display their skill are grouped around the mike. Eunice Crankshaw is doing her bit to help the program.

Right: Miss Ehle, Miss Foster, and Miss Burwell, advisers of the club, seem to be enjoying themselves as they munch on the cookies which are so plentiful. Other members of the club are finding that this home cooking is delicious too.

Being a member of Polar-Y means more than just belonging to a club at North Side. Polar-Y is in reality part of a world-wide organization—the YWCA.

Near Christmas time the club, under the direction of Nadine Waggoner, held one of its most outstanding meetings, including an inspiring candle-lighting ceremony and a play, "The Christmas Mother", that depicted the blessings of the Christmas spirit.

An after-the-game dance, the War Stamp Stomp, which featured a jitterbug contest, was included in the semester's activities. The major officers assisting Nadine were Bernice Kramer, vice-president; Ruth Mertz, secretary; and Joan Schaberg, treasurer.

The club officers and cabinet for the second semester were Bernice Kramer, president; Nadine Waggoner, vice-president; Marjorie Warner, secretary; Ruth Mertz, treasurer; Eleanor Evans, service chairman; Joan Schaberg, social chairman; Roselyn Nidlinger, membership chairman; Betty Boegli, music chairman; Connie Conklin, pianist; Marjorie Frase, publicity chairman; and Edith Zumbrun, point recorder.

A Faculty Tea was one of the main events of the semester besides the annual Easter service, Mother-Daughter Tea, and Senior Farewell. Another annual affair was the Tournament Twirl, a dance held after the tournament by the combined Girl Reserve Clubs, but the crowning event of the year was the annual spring banquet commemorating twenty-five years of Girl Reserve work in Fort Wayne.

The regular service work of hemming towels for the needlework guild and filling Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets for delivery to the needy was carried out by Polar-Y who has taken over the service work of the whole school. A special nation-wide "share-a-dress" project to gather clothes for the needy, and a campaign for placing magazine serial stories in scrapbooks for the USO were carried on in addition to the regular service work.

North Side's organization for all students interested in shooting is the Rifle Club, a member of the National Rifle Association.

This club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Hyrle Ivy and Mrs. Grace Bridges, has one of the largest memberships of all clubs at North Side. There are over twenty girls and about eighty boys in the club.

Outstanding riflemen are Ralph Dunn and Gene Zumbrum. Ralph Dunn won his distinguished rifleman's award, the greatest shooting honor that can be obtained, and Gene Zumbrum received his expert rifleman's medal, the next to highest award.

Other leading shooters are Richard Ropa, Norman Johnston, Don Libey, Dick Blum, Keith Ross, Don Poffenberger, and Lila Lee Hanselman.

This year for the first time senior boys and girls were given an opportunity to learn to shoot. With free ammunition and targets supplied by the School Board over two hundred seniors took the training. Mr. Ivy, aided by Ralph Dunn, Gene Zumbrum, Richard Ropa, Norman Johnston, and Don Libey, taught shooting to these students, many of whom had never before had a rifle in their hands.

All shooters in this national association learn the Sportsmen's Code, which is published in the Junior Rifle Handbook, the official rulebook containing shooting instructions. The aim of the Sportsmen's Code is for greater safety and more human ideals of all the riflemen. Strict observance of all the points in this code provides the greatest safety and enjoyment to all those interested in shooting.

The principle of the club is that boys learning to shoot at targets and improve their scoring and accuracy, will not shoot at harmless song birds or wild animals, and, thus, wild life will be better protected. It is also believed that any boy that has had a gun in his hands won't be completely lost in the Army. The work now being done in Rifle Club and in the senior shooting might eventually save the life of those seniors who will go into the armed forces, if the occasion arise where marksmanship is essential.

"No! No! No! Not that way! Do it the easy, natural way. And, Don, the word is pronounced 'ho-tel', not 'ho-tel'."

Who would ever realize, when he sees the final, magnificent performance of a play directed by Miss Marjorie Suter, that such ordinary things had to be ironed out by that little ball of energy, the director?

The club got underway the first semester with Caroline Waterfall as president, Tom Johnson as vice-president, and Jean Irving as secretary-treasurer. During the second semester, Howard Weatherholt was president and Ann Naus was vice-president.

The first major activity of the Student Players was the presentation of two one-act plays, "There's Always a Tomorrow" and "Bargains in Cathay." Although of a serious nature, "There's Always a Tomorrow" startled its audience by beginning with a "shoot-em up" gangster story which turned out to be a play within the play. Its characters were taken by Charlotte Hampshire, Al Novitsky, Jean Irving, and Caroline Waterfall. Ann Naus, Don Meeks, Sam Wass, Marjorie Sutton, Al Kwatnez, Wanda Coil, Esther McComb, and Howard Weatherholt splendidly presented the comedy, "Bargains in Cathay", in which, we remember, Ann helped Sam to find love poetry to say to his girl friend. The Christmas play, "No Room in the Inn", impressively brought out the Christmas spirit. Those who lent their talents to it were Don Meeks, Marjorie Sutton, Al Kwatnez, Dorothy Doehrman, Ann Naus, Howard Weatherholt, Norma Harper, Al Novitsky, Esther McComb, Victor McGuire, Betty Harshman, Pat Hiser, Caroline Waterfall, and Virginia Erne.

The senior play, "It Never Rains", ended the successful year of outstanding performances. "It Never Rains" takes place in the California home of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers and their son, Jimmy, who were played by Al Kwatnez, Marjorie Sutton, and Howard Weatherholt. The trouble starts when Don Meeks and Dorothy Doehrman, as Mr. and Mrs. Donovan, and Caroline Waterfall, as their daughter, visit the Rogers. Ann Naus, as the stubborn young lady next door, Charlotte Hampshire, as the giddy young maid, and Dick Seiling, as a former suitor of Mrs. Rogers, added much to the play as did Phyllis Hattersley, Esther McComb, Betty Harshman, Betty Lou Bruick, Enid Burrell, Jean Irving, Jack Lusk, Bob Deller, and Nila Koeneman.

As the grid star finds himself with his back to the wall, in an important grid clash, he senses defeat—suddenly a chance for victory enlightens. Starting from behind his own goal line, he tries to make a break for the opposing goal which he considered an impossibility, but this athlete possessing that true spirit continues on his path to glory. Much to his dismay he finds that some unexpected tackler breaks through the line and hits him hard on the 10-yard stripe. He is staggered by that blow, but he gets up and keeps on driving and trying although he never seems to have a chance after that first blow. He tries and gives everything he has to work his way through the opposing line.

This tells the story of the North Side Redskins' football record this season. This is the story of a team that failed to come back. They were big and powerful, and they had great intentions, but once they were hit and stumbled by Riley of South Bend in their opening game they never seemed to recover from that shocking blow. Coach Bob Dornte, newly appointed mentor, instilled a fighting spirit in the boys but they never seemed to have quite enough power as they dropped game after game to strong opposition. Nevertheless, the Redskins were in there battling during their eight-game schedule which resulted in but one victory, one tie, and six defeats to some of the strongest football aggregations. But let's trace the highlights through from start to finish:

Extreme bottom: No butterfingers on this girl as she awaits a pass at a pep session before a pigskin clash.

JUNE—Bob Dornte and Rolla Chambers were appointed to head the North Side athletic staff, replacing the Nulf brothers, Bob and George. Coach Dornte is to handle the football and basketball teams while Coach Chambers will continue with his track activities plus the added assignment of heading the athletic department.

AUGUST—Forty-three boys reported for the opening football practice session before the beginning of school. Several boys failed to turn out for the opening sessions and the failure to appear in ten practice sessions kept some boys on the bench in the opening battle against Riley. Twelve lettermen returned with the outlook not too bright for Coach Bob Dornte.

SEPTEMBER 18—Riding to victory on the passes of St. Clair, Riley struck through the air as they walked through the Redskins 33 to 12. Riley looked like a power house against the Redskins who seemed to be caught napping on the passes flung by the South Bend eleven. Marks scored the first Red score running 12 yards while Sievers plunged for the other North tally.

SEPTEMBER 25—Playing in rain and snow at Mishawaka, Bob Dornte's Redskins failed to score

Bob Keim, fullback, grunts as he lets loose a mighty heave that is sure to hit its mark.... Big John Bauerle meekly stands by raring to go—through his keen tackles and blocks the Redskins managed to edge the Archers. Tall Ned Follis pauses before the camera with one thing on his mind—blocking. Little "Cliff" Deitschel, better known as "Twinkle Toes" after the South Side game, is also brushing up on his blocking.... Ready for action is Dean Marks, a dependable member of this year's squad. He was voted a member of the All-City team.

as Mishawaka rang up an 18-to-0 victory over the failing Redskins. Again the poor pass defense and fumbles proved costly to the Red and White as they dropped their second straight conference battle.

OCTOBER 2—The Dorntemen got their first taste of city competition as the Irish of Central Catholic met them and walked off with a surprising 26-to-25 victory. The Redskins were out in front all the way, but in the dying minutes the "Fighting Irish" released a rally that netted two quick touchdowns, and another defeat for the North Siders. Marks, Smitley, and Longardner took scoring honors.

OCTOBER 9—Bob Dornte for the first time met his former boss, Murray Mendenhall, on the gridiron and, much to Mr. Dornte's dismay, Tom Shopoff, Central's All-State fullback, sparked the Central Tigers to a 20-to-0 victory over the Red and White. This was the Redskins' fourth setback, two in conference play and two in city competition.

OCTOBER 16—John Adams of South Bend invaded the northern gridiron as top favorites, but they found a determined and underdog Redskin eleven who battled the powerful South Bend eleven on even terms for a 0-to-0 tie. It was in this game that Dean Marks was injured and had to be helped from the field in the last quarter of the game.

OCTOBER 30—After defeating Central Catholic, the South Side Archers were confident of a victory over the Redskins. North dug in and gave everything they had as they edged the Archers 13 to 6 for the first North Side victory of the year. All the boys played their hearts out; Deitschel broke through the Archer line and caught a poor pass from center and twisted and turned to run 29 yards for the first Red score. Smitley set up the winning touchdown on a 53-yard run which was a result of perfect blocking by his teammates.

NOVEMBER 6—A powerful and strong Elkhart eleven scored a 28-to-0 victory over the Redskins as the Blue Blazers put on an exhibition of perfect blocking and charging that the North Siders could not match. The Elkhart eleven was big and powerful with the Redskins not once having a chance against the high ranking Elkhart squad.

NOVEMBER 13—Closing the grid season at Goshen, the Dorntemen fought hard as they battled a Goshen eleven on even terms, but lost by the slight margin of an extra point, 7 to 6. The Redskins showed plenty of power as they held possession of the ball throughout the entire game. Sievers scored the lone Redskin touchdown on a short run.

POST SEASON—Jack Wisman, end on the Redskins line, was elected honorary captain at a meeting held for the purpose of electing an all-city grid team. The plans were altered this season with the player choosing the best performers in each department.

Dean Marks was the only Redskin elevated to a berth on the all-city squad while Leazier, center; Baurle, tackle; and Wisman, end, were chosen to positions on the second squad.

Although this was far from a victorious season, it was one that found the Redskins battling for their new coach, Bob Dornte, who will lose Marks, Follis, Oetting, Leazier, Sievers, Baurle, Wisman, Himelstein, Smyers, and Smitley by graduation.

Noble Sievers, blocking back, is just ready to get off one of his famous kicks that carries a long way. Tony Leazier is ready to center the pigskin—all season he did a grand job of backing up the big Red line. Kenny Oetting, end, snaps one of those passes he is famous for ca ching. Gordon Smitley, tricky halfback, does some fancy side-stepping which always brings the best of results. Captain and end, Jack Wisman, holds the ball high in the air as he is ready to punt away. Fading for a pass is Bob Welklin.

All lined up and rarin' to go are Bernie Smyers, Herb Baum, and Ray Chrzan. Bill Hatfield and Bob Smiley are blocking for "Buckets" Himelstein, who has the pigskin tucked under his arm.

Coach Bob Dornte

Nine victories—nine defeats—that is the outcome of the 1942-1943 hardwood season of the Redskins under the leadership of Coach Bob Dornte. The cagey Red netters started the season slow with a few experienced boys on hand to form the nucleus of the squad. This was a year of new faces at the Redskin camp.

When the boys got some valuable experience under their belts, they were a tough five to beat with their height and speed being the big Red advantages. After the first month of play, the Redskins settled down and played a better brand of ball after dropping four out of the first five battles. The tall and lanky Red netters were capable of playing better ball than the season record indicates; for, when they were called upon to play a tough game, they were capable of giving any team a battle. Central—state champs—found this out by being able to conquer the Redmen by only three points in an exciting sectional battle.

NOVEMBER 28—Starting the season against their traditional opening foe, Masonic Home, the Redskins got off to a successful start by an impressive 34-to-18 victory. Bill Hinga led the Red attack with eight points as he caught fire in the third period.

DECEMBER 4—Laporte nosed out a determined Redskin five 30 to 29 in the closing minutes of an NIC battle. The Red and White led throughout parts of the game but they were not able to score when the chips were down. Oetting was high scorer with eight tallies.

DECEMBER 5—The two-day trip to Laporte and South Bend proved disastrous to Bob Dornte's forces, who lost to Laporte 30 to 29 and dropped a one-sided affair to Riley of South Bend by a score of 48 to 21. Andrews was the top North scorer with only six points.

DECEMBER 11—Playing Central of South Bend, the team marked by sports writers as Number One in the state, the Redskins managed to stay even with the South Bend five for the first half which resulted in an 18-all tie. The second half was all Central, their final score being 50, North Side 28. Follis and Hinga were top scorers with eight and seven points.

Fourth Picture: Bob Doty of Central is caught by the camera as he tries a push shot, which finds Oetting, Tinkle, and Andrews of North Side trying desperately to stop the Central uprising.

DECEMBER 18—Central and North renewed acquaintances on the hardwood with the Tigers edging the Red 28 to 25 in a close game that found the Red using a zone defense that almost upset Murray Mendenhall's five. Follis again was high scorer with nine points. This was the fourth straight defeat for the Redskins.

DECEMBER 19—The North Siders jumped into the winning column against Auburn with a 39-to-27 victory. Auburn was considered a good team but the Northmen finally caught fire and looked better. Andrews scored well for the Redskins with thirteen points.

DECEMBER 22—The Redskins grabbed an early lead against Goshen and coasted to a 32-to-26 victory with Bill Hinga counting for nine points.

JANUARY 8—Failing to pull the North Side zone out of position, the South Side Archers lost a 20-to-16 low scoring game. Ray Tinkle finally appeared in the Redskin lineup, and he was high point netter with eight points while Andrews was not far behind with seven.

JANUARY 9—Using ten men to good advantage, the Redskins swept through Napanee 56 to 33 with Tinkle scoring thirteen points and Leakey ten. This was the fourth straight North Side victory.

JANUARY 15—It was five in a row for the Redskins with a victory over the Irish. North got a big lead in the first period, but the Fighting Irish fought back and almost overtook the Red and White. The final score read North 46, Central Catholic 37. Tinkle again was the best offensive threat in the North lineup as he scored fifteen and Andrews was again close behind with thirteen.

JANUARY 16—Mishawaka snapped the Redskins' winning streak at five with a 31-to-25 victory. The Redskins played a very poor first half and were not able to close the gap in the last stanza. Tinkle and Hinga did most of the North scoring.

JANUARY 22—Elkhart rang up a 39-to-26 victory over the Red and White at Elkhart. Leakey was the only Red scorer that could hit the net consistently; he scored fourteen points.

JANUARY 23—Tinkle and Bruick led the Redskins to a 49-to-28 victory over Michigan City. Tinkle scored fourteen points while Bruick scored eleven.

JANUARY 29—Central's fast-breaking Tigers built up a big lead, which found the Redskins too far back to cause much trouble. North used a man-to-man defense that failed to stop the Tigers. Score: 30 to 41. Tinkle scored ten points for the Redskins.

JANUARY 30—The Redskins bounced back into the winning column with a 38-to-32 victory over John Adams of South Bend. Tinkle and Bruick were Redskin standouts as they each scored fourteen points.

FEBRUARY 5—The South Side gym again proved the big jinx as the North Siders dropped another game at the southern court, 35 to 21.

FEBRUARY 13—Sickness crept into the Red camp with three regulars on the bench. Washington of South Bend found North's substitutes easy to handle, as they handed them a 53-to-25 pasting. Bruick and Follis scored seven points each.

FEBRUARY 19—Huntington, not as strong as in past years, fell before the North squad. All the boys contributed to the success of the victory with the scoring being well divided.

SECTIONAL—The Redskins exploded against Lafayette Central as they netted a 36-to-15 victory in their first game. Leakey was high scorer with eight points. In the second game Bob Dornte's five squared off against Central in one of the most exciting games played between the two schools. North lost the game at the foul line, as many personal fouls were called in this rough-and-tumble game. The final score read Central 37, North 34. Tinkle and Bruick played good ball for North with Tinkle being elevated to the All-Sectional Team by virtue of his fifteen-point total scored against Central.

The Lettermen's Club, under the able guidance of Miss Julia Storr, Rolla Chambers, and Bob Dornte, has completed another year.

This year has not been as active as past years for this organization due to the fact that most of our burly athletes have been engaged in defense work and other activities to aid our Uncle Sam. Because of this outside work, the Lettermen's Club could not hold a large enough meeting to plan either the annual Lettermen's Banquet or the annual dance.

Despite this fact, the Lettermen managed to get together long enough to hold the annual election of officers. Johnny Mattes was elected president; Pierce Flanders, vice-president; and Bob Welkin, secretary.

The N-men wish to voice their appreciation for the time and effort put forth by Miss Storr in aiding us to solve our problems and plan future activities. Miss Storr is well known to all N-men as the mother of the North Side Lettermen. We, the Lettermen of North Side, wish to thank Miss Storr for all that she has done for us and we wish her many more years of happiness as the adviser to the Lettcrmen's Club.

We are all anxiously awaiting the end of the present world conflict so that our peacetime activities can once more be resumed.

The requirement for membership in this organization is winning a varsity N in one of the major sports, football, track basketball, cross country, and tennis.

During the past year tennis has been adopted as a major sport. Although there have been tennis teams organized at our Alma Mater in the past, this was the first year that the outstanding members of this team were awarded the varsity N.

The members of the Lettermen's Club may be distinguished by their brilliant red sweaters with the large white N on the front, and the white stripes around the sleeve of the left arm. The number of stripes designate the number of years that each athlete has served as a varsity member. The members of the track team may be distinguished by the stars and emblems displayed upon their sleeves. Each of these stars and emblems stands for a state championship.

THE LEGEND 1943

Harrier's Take Another Title

By KEITH BRATTON

Coach Rolla Chambers eagerly times his state championship team.

Rollie Chambers' 1942 cross country squad turned in another championship for the second straight year. The Rover Boys started the season on September 26 against Roosevelt of East Chicago and scored a slam of 15 to 53. Ash Hawk led this meet with a 10:15 for the two-mile course, with Heller, Kemp, Gibson, Swank, and Pape finishing for the next five places.

Next on the list for the Harriers was Horace Mann. With Hawk breaking a fourteen-year record, the Red machine rolled on to their fortieth straight victory.

Again, in the Elkhart meet, Hawk broke an all-time standing by leading the Rover Boys to another victory. The Redskins made it number 42 when they defeated a strong Emerson of Gary team. As usual, Hawk led the Harriers to victory with the time of 10:32 for a two-mile course.

The next scheduled contest for the Red was the one against Bowling Green University of Ohio. Due to transportation difficulties, this important meet was cancelled. Again the war interfered with the North schedule when the Hammond meet was called off.

Then came the biggest and the toughest meet of the year, the NIC at Gary. Led again by Ash Hawk, the Rover Boys nosed out Hammond, the closest team, by ten points to annex the contest and gain the state cross country championship.

Cinder Track-

By RABBIT BRATTON

But one word can be used to describe the 1942 and 1943 track squads of North Side and that one word is "spectacular". For the fourteenth year track has been directed by Rollie Chambers, who has in his course of coaching never produced a team equal to these teams of 1942 and 1943.

The Redskins captured the sectionals of 1942 with a total of 69 points, their closest competitors being South Side with 28 and Central with 26. The Redskins qualified thirteen men, these being Flanders, Swager, Sutton, Biggs, Hawk, Walker, Bojinoff, Longardner, Snook, Hinga, Short, Douglass, and Lichtsinn.

Let's review, briefly, the finals of these sectionals. The mile run qualified Hawk of North Side first, Lichtsinn of North Side second; the time 4.24. Bojinoff and Longardner, both of North Side, breezed through the high hurdles, capturing first and second with a 15.8. The order was reversed in the low hurdles with Longardner garnering first with a 23.5. Again it was Hawk in the half-mile with Blanks of Central being second. Time 1.56.4.

Path to Victory

In the quarter-mile it was Worman of South first and Hinga of North second. The time 51.2. The Redskins captured first in both relays. The mile relay team, Flanders, Walker, Swager, and Hinga, encircled the oval with a 3.32.7. The half-mile team, Biggs, Sutton, Snook, Douglass, came through with a 1.34.5. In the field events, North took the shot put with Short heaving the marble 49 feet 2 inches. Douglass took the high jump with little Dick Kilpatrick of South Side placing second. Height: 6 feet 3 inches. The broad jump went to Snook of North Side with Zuber of South getting second. Distance: 21 feet 6 inches.

Next, the Redmen moved to the State meet at Indianapolis, one of the most thrilling ever. The Redskins captured 41½ points, Hammond 39, Froebel 32, Anderson 24, Wiley of Terre Haute 18, South Side 12, and Central 3.

Now let's go back to some of the thrilling events which composed the meet. In the 440-, Jim Hinga of the Reds, was stuck in an outside lane and was behind the pack until the last 220. He placed third behind Shaeffer of Froebel and Phillips of Boonesville. The time was 51.4. North Side ran into more bad luck in the big hurdles when Bojinoff, due to a cut on his knee, was unable to get better than second behind Packwood of Salem. The time for this race was 15.3. Bojinoff's leg again held him back in the lows. He got second with Glenn of Froebel getting first in the time of 23.0. Ash Hawk took his mile easily with a 4:31.8, while Lichtsinn, who was suffering from a new wisdom tooth which swelled his face, was able to get only a fifth in his heat.

Again "Lady Luck" deserted the Redskins when Ash Hawk was disqualified on his record-breaking 880-. This disqualification was due to the fact that Hawk was said to have cut in on a curve. Ash ran this 880 in 1:57.4 which would have been a new record if it had been counted.

About this time the field events were closing and the results were: In the shot old "Moose" Short of North Side was content with fourth place with a put of 47 feet. Snook of North Side got fourth place in the broad jump; Heinter of South Bend Central won this event, leaping 22 feet 6½ inches. The biggest spot in the field events was the pole vault; Bill Moore of Logansport made the sensational height of 13 feet 6 1/8 inches, a new record, indeed. In the high jump, first place went to Dick Kilpatrick of South Side with a jump of 5 feet 10 3/7 inches. Douglass of North, due to a cramped leg, tied for fifth place.

At this point the score stood at Froebel 76, North Side 21½, and 21 for Hammond. It looked tough for the Redmen, but in the mile relay the Redskins nosed out Hammond for first place and 10 points. The time was 3:31.0. If the Redskins had taken second place, the meet would have been won by Hammond. Froebel lost the second mile relay by getting only a third place. The score now stood North 31½, Froebel 32, and Hammond 29. The half-mile relay was up and it was necessary for the Redskins to win their heat and Hammond to beat Froebel. The Redskins ran first, being timed at 1:32.2, and moved past Froebel. On the third leg of this race Hammond edged ahead of Froebel and Mamala anchored for Hammond and won by twelve feet. This gave the state meet to the North Side Redskins for the second straight year.

The 1943 season opened on March 10 at Purdue, with the thinly squad of North competing against Hammond in an indoor dual. The 1943 squad was composed of Longardner, Flanders, Fernandis, Swank, and Schwartz in the hurdles; Heller, Hawk, Kemp, Herber, and Ginther in the distance runs; Sutton, Dellinger, and Meeks in the middle distance runs; Sutton, Lemmel, Morrow, Fernandis, Longardner, and Snyder in the dashes; Dean Marks and Tom Deitschel in the shot put; Pape and Flanders in the high jump; Clarence Hanson in the pole vault, and Longardner, Fernandis, and Lemmel in the broad jump. This team scored a total of 58 points to Hammond's 42.

The next meet the Redskins participated in was on April 10, the State Indoor Meet at Notre Dame. Because of the war and transportation problems, the field for this contest was cut down to only four contenders: Hammond, South Bend Central, Mishawaka, and North Side. By gaining first place in the mile, half-mile, mile relay, high and low hurdles and the pole vault, the North band was easily able to capture this meet.

Ash Hawk and Bill Heller placed first and second in the mile with the time of 4:43.5, while Hawk duplicated himself in the 880 with a 2:01.8. Hanson and Towsley got first and second in the pole vault, vaulting 11 feet; Marks and Deitschel captured second and third in the shot put; Pierce Flanders, third in the high jump with Pape tieing for fourth. Longardner was able to get only a fourth in the broad jump, but easily took both hurdles. Dellinger and Sutton grabbed second and third in the 440. Being beat out by Hammond, the North Side half-mile relay team could get only third place. The Redmen, however, came through in the mile relay to take it with the time of 3:39. So again the Redskins took state indoor, the third time in a row, and looked destined to be the winners of the Southport Relays, Kokomo Relays, Sectionals, State, and any other meet which might come their way. So congratulations, again, Coach Chambers, for your "fightinest" Redskins ever to be produced in North Side.

GAA has become an important part of the national wartime program that urges everyone to be physically fit. Since this war, it is the aim of everyone to maintain a physically fit body, and thus, this organization is more than ever helping those girls who have an active interest in sports and in physical training; for the aims of GAA are to promote better health, sportsmanship, and a wholesome recreation for all girls.

At our annual banquet last spring, Maxine Richard was elected president; Elizabeth Tone, vice-president; Phyllis Bender, secretary-treasurer; Ruth Nichols, point recorder; Joan Leighty, junior representative; and Jessie Ormerod, sophomore representative. Phyllis Bender and Ruth Nichols were succeeded by Joan Leighty and Ruth Driver respectively.

Under the able assistance of our club advisers, Miss Spiegel and Miss Schwehn, and the help of the student officers, GAA got off to a grand opening this season with the Frosh Party. All freshman girls and others interested in GAA were invited. The purpose of this was to get the girls better acquainted with each other and to encourage them to engage in sports. Elizabeth Tone and Maxine Richard were in charge of the games and refreshments.

Tennis was the first sport in the fall. The senior tennis championship was won by Dorothy Chandler, who defeated Phyllis Bender. Sharlot Heller defeated Margaret Canfield, last year's champ, to become the winner of the sophomore class, and Martha Bowman defeated Media Van Lear in the finals of the frosh contest.

Along with tennis came volleyball, and the Junior Red team surprised everyone by defeating the seniors with a score of 29-14 and becoming the class champs.

Our second and biggest social event was the Vod-vil on November 20. This year the Vod-vil, that for five years had been replaced by the Penny Carnival, was revived. Everyone was invited to take part. Wayne Heath and his orchestra played for the dance that was held in the cafeteria after the Vod-vil. Lila Childers and Maxine Richard were co-chairmen assisted by Martha Hughes and Phyllis Bender, publicity; and Ruth Driver, checkroom. Miss Spiegel and Miss Schwehn were both kept busy with their own acts and many worries. Thanks to Miss Zook and her helpers for the unique backdrop, and to everyone who helped make the Vod-vil such a success.

After Christmas vacation basketball practices began. Four girls representing the senior class, Glendora Martin, Ruth Driver, Dorothy Chandler, and Maxine Richard, all tried valiantly along with junior girls, who helped comprise their team, to win the championship. It was the first time in history that such a few were able to attend practices and be on teams. The reason is that almost all the senior girls in GAA are working. No one was too surprised, then, to learn that the Sophomore A team was champs. Those on the sophomore team are Erma Ely, Marjorie Galloway, Martha Ummel, Margaret Canfield, Pat Ridings, Phyllis Galli, Iona

Hamlet, Laura Pennell, Deloris Gardt, and Neva Waikel.

During the basketball season, an officials' class was started. The girls who enrolled are Margaret Canfield, Lila Childers, Erma Ely, Marcele Garman, Mildred Hattendorf, Mary Houser, Berniece Jacoby, Joann Leighty, Eleanor Houser, Marjorie Galloway, Ellen Martin, Glendora Martin, Joann McKeefer, Suzanne McKeefer, Annabelle Stephenson, Patricia Riding, Mona Winkleblack, Neva Waikel, Bonnie Wire, Shirley Zion, and Gene Ann Zimmerman. The class met once each week, and studied violations, fouls, refereeing, umpiring, scorekeeping, time-keeping, and all the rules and regulations concerning girls' basketball. After they had sufficient training along this line, they were qualified to help with the tournament.

this year are Eleanor Evans, Miriam Franklin, Eleanor Houser, Anna May Jacobson, Marion Knuth, Carol Mulqueeney, Phyllis Rabus, Jessie Ormerod, and Margaret Canfield. The course required a minimum of at least fifteen class hours, divided into two parts: a preparatory phase of five hours and a training phase of ten hours. Examinations required two additional hours, making a total for course and examination of seventeen hours. The requirements of the senior course are: standing front dive, swim 440 yards continuously, employing a hand-over-hand stroke (crawl, trudgeon-crawl, double trudgeon, trudgeon); a side stroke using scissors stroke of the legs; swim on the back with inverted scissors or inverted breast stroke kick, dive from surface to minimum depth of six feet and swim two body lengths under water, tread

After the basketball season closed, tumbling classes were started. "Ah, sweet misery of life, at last I've found thee" was the doleful lament of many a girl limping from a tumbling class. That month liniment bottles saw daily usage.

Life-saving is another sport which is offered in our intramural program. North Side being the only high school in this city fortunate to have a pool, we are therefore lucky to have a course offered in life-saving each year to any girl who is interested. The following girls who participated water one minute with hands beneath surface for use as auxiliary supports, and float motionless or rest in a floating position with minimum movements of arms and legs for one minute. After completing this course the girls are fully able to aid in any emergency that might arise.

Noon-day activities during the winter months encouraged hundreds of boys and girls to play volleyball, badminton, ping-pong, darts, ring-toss, and shuffle-board. This opportunity enabled many to have an enjoyable period which might otherwise be spent in a less-entertaining way.

March 26 was the night that many dignified letter girls hit the dust at the annual skating party. Jeossie Ormerod was general chairman assisted by Vergie Lewis, publicity, and Martha Ummel, transportation.

Last spring's softball tourney was a tie between the seniors and the juniors. Those on the senior team were Janet Van Auken, Flora Gaff, Betty Puff, Jean Nichols, Ruth Bolyard, Janice Grubb, Dorothy Beighley, Armina Eby, Ruth Schuelke, and Arline Van Meter. The junior team was composed of Alta Beeching, Alphia Dietrich, Gloria Fisher, Elizabeth Tone, Phyllis Bender, Betty Gaunt, Mildred Rathert, Norma Harper, Dorothy Chandler, Marilyn Harries, Mildred Bauermeister, Glendora Martin, and Maxine Richard.

ran as follows: 300 points, numerals; 600 points, blocked N; and 1000 points for the winged N.

The senior's farewell banquet given by the junior girls was the usual gala affair. All alumnae were invited and many attended. Lila Childers was general chairman, assisted by Martha Hughes, decorations; Rose Mary Moeder, tickets; Thelma McCoy, program, and Joan Leighty, gifts. It was held at the Young Women's Christian Association. At the banquet awards were presented and new officers installed. The candidates for president were Lila Childers and Martha Hughes; secretary-treasurer, Thelma McCoy and Doris McKeefer; point recorder, Dorothy Leininger and Betty Mitchell; junior representative, Iona Hamlett and Vergie Lewis; and sophomore representative, Mary Eunice Crankshaw and Ramola Reynolds.

Schuelke close behind by five points. Betty Puff was also chosen as the best girl "sport", her name being engraved on the sportsmanship cup.

This year a new point system was started, and new awards were issued. It now requires 600 points for the GAA emblem, and 1000 points for the blocked N. Now the blocked N is the highest award, whereas in former years the point syst.

breakfast hike held on June 10. In the past, the Municipal Beach has been the place chosen for the event, and this year it was there again. After the hike, breakfast was eaten, and rough initiation, followed by the formal initiation, were held. Then everyone played softball and volleyball, and so ended this year's activities.

Athletic Board

By AL KWATNEZ

First Row: Hyrle Ivy, Robert Dornte, M. H. Northrop, Rolla Chambers, Robert Sinks.
Second Row: Noel Whittern, Loy Laney, Leslie Reeves, John Mertes.

Our Athletic Board has had a new job to handle this year in improving the physical condition of all the boys in the student body. Headed by Rolla P. Chambers, a plan has been introduced to include all boys in some kind of athletics regardless of whether it be military training or physical fitness. All boys have been following the government's request to strengthen their physical condition in order to be prepared to answer the call by Uncle Sam.

A well-rounded program has been introduced which has attracted the attention of many of the boys. The upper classmen have received much valuable information from their military training. Many boys have moved up to officers in this training program, which is being directed by our experienced instructor, Captain Everett Pennington.

Other members of the athletic board include Loy C. Laney, Hyrle Ivy, Robert Sinks, Noel Whittern, Robert Dornte, Leslie Reeves, John Mertes, and Principal Milton Northrop.

Mr. Laney has been instructing classes in physical fitness while Mr. Ivy has been sharpening the aim of all the students in the Rifle Club. This year all seniors have been given the opportunity to meet certain standards set up by our government on the rifle range.

Much credit should be paid to Mr. Sinks for handling the well-rounded intramural program. Mr. Whittern, the popular Booster adviser, has been newly appointed as the tennis coach.

Bob Dornte, head football and basketball mentor, has finished his first year at North Side with his teams making an impressive record during the past year.

Mr. Reeves has handled all the finances for the athletic department during the past year and has also helped Mr. Chambers arrange the athletic schedules. Much credit goes to these two gentlemen for booking some of the strongest teams for the Redskins in the state of Indiana.

Mr. Milton Northrop's principal assignment is to see that the school abides by all the rules set up by the Indiana High School Athletic Association. North Side has long been on the good standing with Trester and the IHSAA thanks to our principal, Mr. Milton Northrop. It is the duty of all the schools to meet the standards set up by the Association. No boy is allowed to play on outside basketball teams after the close of the basketball season. Thus it is the job of the Athletic Board to keep tab on the student body during the period which might attract boys to play with outside teams.

THE LEGEND 1943

Intramural Sports

By HOWARD WEATHERHOLT

Credit for another brilliant intramural sports program should be paid to Director Robert Sinks and Athletic Head Rolla Chambers, as well as the rest of the Redskin athletic board. The program for 1942-43 included the Leaders' Tournament, Home Room Tournament, bowling, track, tennis, and cross country. Since many, however, will take place after the Legend publication date, summaries of only those which have been completed will be given.

The annual Leaders' Tournament started the initial spin of the intramural wheel and the Corncobbers, a team composed of Bill Hunter, Carl Suedhoff, Tom Johnson, Jack Neff, Gene Himelstein, and Don Koenig fought their way to the crown in a thrilling 21-to-19 game.

The freshman-sophomore cross-country run was next to appear on the intramural calendar. Delbert Beyerly claimed the title and set a new record of 9:40 in doing so. Other runners, Wayne Putt, Bob Bauermeister, Verle Wright, and Wayne Kesler, finished in that order. Beyerly's record was set on a wet and muddy course.

The ten-pin bouncers, under the direction of their new head, Mr. John Mertes, then swung into action. Herb Hostler, Dean Marks, Clifford Voelker, and Clarence Hanson consistently led the bowlers. Hostler averaged a score of 157 to claim top position on the team.

Top row: A visitor and Joan Nieter are seen dancing at one of the after-game dances. . . . A winner again is Gene Himmelstein, the outstanding speaker of the junior class. This time he won the junior extemp contest. . . . Putting up one of our many charts to boost the sale of War Stamps and Bonds are Byron Green, Mr. Chambers, custodian, and Bill Helier.

Bottom row: Back-to-School Night is the time when the parents become the students. They visit classes, the dean, the principal, and finally they are fed in the cafeteria, much as we are every day. . . . Two of the stars in the GAA Vod-Vil this year are seen giving out with a little bit of swing. . . . Carl Suedhoff presents the coveted honor plaque to Jack Waggoner.

Top row: Dorothy Doehrman, the first girl president of National Honor Society, is presenting an honor plaque to Lila Lee Childers . The winner and runners-up in a junior speech contest; the winner, Gene Himelstein; the runners-up, Sidney Lyons and Dick Horning.

Second row: The importance of plastics in the world-to-come is shown in one of our assembly programs, given by the science department. David Hogg delivers his opening address to the State Student Congress which was held at North Side.

Bottom row: Mr. Wells draws and talks of the world in another of our assembly programs. Al Kwatnez proudly holds up the cup he won in the senior extemp contest. Joan Nieter, Jim Bedree, and Beatrice Ormerod are others who placed.

The following pictures are of some of the physical fitness classes organized this year at North Side. Middle: A military drill class under the direction of Captain Everett Pennington. Lower left: A very strenuous exercise indeed, but they seem to be getting along just fine. Lower right: Doing practically the same exercises as they do in the Army, these freshmen boys are getting "toughened up."

Top Right: This boy is developing muscles through tumbling.
